FBI Snares Six Additional Second-Rank Communists

Indians Won't Try To Curb POW Break

Slaughter Would Be Too Terrible, Says Commanding Officer

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The senior Indian officer in Korea said today that Indian troops would not attempt to halt a mass breakout of anti-Communist war prisoners because of the "terrible slaughter" that would follow.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya made the statement at a news conference even as thousands jammed streets in the South Korean capital of Seoul in a demonstration against Indians guarding POWs who have refused to go home.

Rok's Renew Threats

It also came amid renewed threats by South Korean leaders to drive out the Indians, whom they denounce as pro-Communist.

Thimayya said, "We are not concerned if South Korea threatens us because we have the huge U.N. Command" and Communist forces "at our disposal."

He said the U.N. Command was responsible for preventing South Korean troops from entering the neutral zone to attack Indian forces.

Thimayya did not comment on a letter sent to him today by Gen. Mark W. Clark in which the retiring Far East commander said the United Nations will not waver from the principle of freedom of choice for the 23,000 anti-Communist prisoners in Indian custody.

Clark said the U.N. had shed blood to win that right and will not compromise.

Clark's Position

Clark, who turns over his command Wednesday to Gen. John E. Hull, accused the five-nation repatriation commission—of which India is chairman—of working on the false idea that the reluctant prisoners "actually desire repatriation."

Thimayya said it was "highly likely" that the long-delayed interviewing of the balky POWs would begin next Tuesday.

Allied and Communist teams were to begin meeting Sept. 2 with the prisoners in an attempt to persuade them to return home, but a dispute over facilities for the interviews forced postponement.

Thimayya said the "explanations" could begin as soon as the U. N. Command finishes temporary interview booths demanded by the Communists. The UNC said

Claim Group Headed Ohio Subversives

Principal Raids Are Made in Cleveland, Lorain, Steubenville

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell today announced a round-up of six different officials of the Communist party. The arrests were made by FBI agents in Cleveland, Lorain and Steubenville, Ohio, and Newark, N. J.

In addition, the announcement said a detainer had been placed against another party functionary now serving time in the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus for fictitious car registration.

All of those involved were described as now holding or having held positions in the Communist party apparatus in the Midwest.

All were charged under the Smith act with conspiracy to advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government.

The new move represents a continued effort to get into custody second-string leaders of the party, for prosecution similar to that which resulted in prison sentences for the 11 top leaders of the party in 1949.

To date, a total of 98 party officials have been arrested or detained, beginning with the arrest of the 11 in 1948.

The Justice Department named those taken into custody this morning as:

Joseph Brandt, 43, described as formerly organizational secretary of the party in Ohio, apprehended in Newark on Jelliff street between Clinton and Avon avenues while on his way to work. His residence address is 738 Hunterdon St., Newark.

David Katz, 40, described as former treasurer of the Communist Political Assn. of Ohio, arrested in downtown Cleveland at E. 3rd street and Superior avenue, while driving his employer's bakery truck.

Frieda Zucker Katz, 41, wife of David Katz, described as one-time organizational secretary for the party in Cuyahoga County, taken into custody at her residence, 3624 E. 151st St., Cleveland.

Lucille Bethencourt, 26, described as a leading participant in Communist activities in the Lorain area since 1949 and former party chairman there, arrested at her residence, Rt. 2, Lorain.

Elvador Claud Greenfield, 63, write-in candidate for governor of Ohio on the Communist ticket in 1952, while serving as public relations director of the Ohio Communist party. The FBI said he was living under the name "E. Griene" at a rooming house at 3007 Archwood Ave., Cleveland, when arrested this morning.

The agents reported that when taken into custody he carried two books with him for reading material: "Don't Get Caught" by M. E. Chaber and "Time to Kill" by J. M. Walsh.

Joseph Michael Dougher, 56, also known as Joseph Michael Walsh, described as active in party affairs in Pennsylvania and Ohio and a one-time member of the party's

New York City Longshoremen Return to Jobs

Taft-Hartley Court Order Brings 10-Day Truce in Dock Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen went back to work on New York docks bright and early today in compliance with a court order halting their "no contract, no work" strike in east coast ports.

In hiring shapeups at several piers, several hundred members of both the International Longshoremen's Assn. which was recently evicted from the AFL and members of a new rival AFL union reported for duty speedily and without incident.

There were no mixed work gangs, however, for the rival unions control workers at different piers. The court order issued last night enjoining further strike activity for 10 days under Taft-Hartley law provisions left unsettled the basic jurisdictional dispute between the ILA and the new AFL organization, and there have been indications of further work struggle.

At two piers 11 gangs of longshoremen got busy handling baggage and supplies for the liners Andrea Doria, scheduled to sail at noon, and the Constitution, departing tonight.

At a third pier the Swedish—American liner Gripsholm was snugged into her berth, the first passenger vessel to dock since issuance of the court order.

Earlier in the day tug boat crews who had struck in sympathy with the ILA work stoppage had reported for duty and started moving in ships which had been forced to anchor in the harbor during the five-day tieup which cost an estimated 7½ million dollars in New York.

Even as President Eisenhower's first use of Taft-Hartley brought at least a temporary truce in the ILA's wage-contract dispute with employers, there were reports that new work stoppages might result from the ILA's fight with the AFL for control of waterfront labor.

ILA officials said their members might refuse to work alongside longshoremen who have quit the ILA to join the AFL. A number of longshoremen have left the ILA in bolts which split some locals in two.

The rivalry between the ILA and AFL has led to extraordinary police precautions on the waterfront, where supremacy is often determined by brawn and brutality.

On the basis of a pessimistic report by a three-man fact-finding board which met in New York over the weekend, Eisenhower yesterday ordered the Justice Department to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Judge Acts Quickly

Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Burger immediately flew to New York with a petition ready for Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld.

The judge last night ordered a 10-day halt in the strike to prevent "immediate and irreparable

Welding Torch Sets Off Fire, Auto Destroyed

Gasoline in Tank Ignites, Damage Estimated at $1,700

A welding torch held too near an automobile gasoline tank resulted in a fire causing total estimated damage of $1,700 yesterday afternoon at the Transmission Gear and Supply Co. garage at 964 W. Center St

Firemen reported that Richard Adams of 607 Ballentine Ave. was doing some welding underneath his car and accidentally got too close to the gas tank. Heat from the torch burned a hole through the tank and set the gasoline on fire as it drained onto the floor.

Adams and others in the garage first tried to put out the fire, but W. Center St. station at 12:25 p.m. the flames soon surrounded the car, firemen reported.

A fire alarm was turned into the W. Center Stl station at 12:25 p.m. and five minutes later firemen from S Prospect St. station were

Glen R. Rouse, 34, Pinned by Auto In Collision

Glen R. Rouse, 34, of near Marion died in City Hospital at 3:32 this morning as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident at 12:10 a.m.

The accident happened on State Route 4 at the intersection of Sawyer Rd. just south of Marion. The car driven by Rouse was struck from the rear by a car driven by Merle V. Kirk, 39, of 418 Girard Ave.

Both cars were northbound. Rouse was thrown from his car and pinned under the Kirk car, where investigating patrolmen found him.

Dies 3 Hours Later

He was taken to City Hospital where he died three hours later. He received a fractured skull, fractured jaw, fractured right arm and collarbone, and severe shock.

Both cars were damaged extensively. Patrolmen are investigating the accident to determine if Rouse may have driven his car from Sawyer Rd. into the path of the oncoming Kirk car.

Kirk received cuts on the face and head, but did not require treatment, according to patrol reports.

Rouse's body was taken from the hospital to the Gehm Funeral Home in Prospect.

Born in County

He lived on a 72-acre farm located on County Road 126.

Rouse was a native of Marion County. He was born Nov. 15, 1915, in Pleasant Township to Cary and Mae Waters Rouse. His

Conservancy District Seems Ready To Fold

Can't Go on Without Money, Official Says; No Funds in Prospect

A financial drought is threatening the existence of the 17-county Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District, The Associated Press reported.

Without funds, the flood control and water conservation operation is done, an official asserted today.

An Ohio Supreme Court decision knocked out the second levy against property owners in the district to get preliminary funds for its organization.

"That means the end of any conservancy district," said Secretary Allen I. Pretzman, "unless some way is found to get the money."

District directors probably will meet within a few weeks to study the problem, Pretzman reported.

Directors are Joseph V. Vanmeter of Chillicothe, Howard F. Guthery of Marion and John H. Dunlap Jr., of Williamsport, Pickaway County.

Guthery, a Marion attorney, said this morning he agreed with Pretzman's view that the action would mean the end of any conservancy district unless another way is found to obtain the needed funds.

The district was formed in 1934 by Crawford, Delaware, Fayette, Franklin Highland, Madison, Marion, Morrow, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Sandusky, Scioto, Seneca

Fresh Activity Hints Break in Kidnaping Due

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A missing spokesman at the home of the wealthy parents of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease aroused more speculation today that a break might come any time now in the nine-day-old kidnaping case.

The spokesman, Robert Ledterman of Tulsa, hasn't been seen at the home of the 71-year-old father, Robert C. Greenlease, since early Sunday morning. Other associates of the family have met all queries about Ledterman with the statement that he was resting and couldn't be disturbed.

Ledterman, because of his close ties with the family, frequently has been mentioned as a possible intermediary.

Stirring more mystery about the quiet efforts of the family to get their son back was a visit to the home last night by President Eisenhower's banker-brother.

Arthur B. Eisenhower spent 15 minutes at the home. As he left he told newsmen he could give them no information. He declined to say whether Ledterman was in the house. Earlier in the day a nurse at the home said she hadn't seen Ledterman around yesterday.

Last week, when Joseph Williams, president of the Commerce Trust Co., visited the home the father said he had made arrangements to get money day or night to meet ransom demands. Eisenhower is executive vice president of the same bank.

Greenlease, an automobile dealer and distributor, has said he

Addresses Churchwomen

Path to Peace Slow, Tortuous, Ike Says

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today peace can be won "slowly and tortuously"—but only if the Western powers "build, maintain and pay for" the military might that would secure them from an H-bomb attack.

With Russia dedicated to "world domination," Eisenhower said, the free world is "forced to concentrate on building such stores of armaments as can deter any attack against those who want to be free."

Pictures Mass Destruction

The President pictured for a churchwomen's assembly the sudden mass destruction which would accompany atomic war.

"This horror must not be," he said, adding:

"This titanic force must be reduced to the fruitful service of mankind.

"If it is within the power of your leaders, with God's help it will be done."

Eisenhower flew to Atlantic City this morning to address the Sixth National Assembly of the United Church Women of the National Council of Churches of Christ.

The country's firmness of faith and soundness of family life, he said, are the foundations on which [illegible] depend its world leadership depend.

"We must certainly make sure that all the world comprehends, in simplest terms, the paramount alternatives of our day," Eisenhower declared.

"The first of these alternatives is a wasteful and devastating contest in the production of weapons of inconceivable power.

Lists Alternatives

"The other alternative, is a world ever advancing in peace and prosperity through the cooperative effort of its nations and peoples."

The first choice, the President said, will bring only "sudden and mass destruction, erasure of cities, windrows of unidentifiable dead, the possible doom of every nation and society."

Rejecting any course pointed that way, Eisenhower said this country's goal must be the harnessing of nuclear power for the benefit of all men.

Eisenower's discussion of the horrors of atomic war came just six days after he told his news conference he planned to make a frank report on the new dangers confronting the free world since Russia demonstrated its ability to touch off a hydrogen explosion.

The President stressed that "a

Rev. Wood Dies In Marion Hospital

Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, 78, of 605 E. Church St died about 11 a.m this morning at Marion City Hospital.

A former pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, he has been in failing health for several years and recently underwent an operation at the hospital.

He served as pastor of Trinity Baptist Church from 1928 to 1941 when he was transferred to the First Baptist Church at Sandusky. He remained there until he retired from the ministry in 1947.

In May, 1951 he and Mrs. Wood returned to Marion to make their home at the E. Church St. address.

In addition to Mrs. Wood he is survived by four daughters and a nephew. Two brothers preceded him in death.

Dickey Given Highest Award Of State PTA

Lester L. Dickey, city school superintendent, today was presented the highest award the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers can bestow, a national life membership.

The presentation was made at the 48th annual convention of the organization being held in Cincinnati, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Mr. Dickey serves as juvenile protection chairman of the Ohio Parent-Teachers Congress

At the convention session today, members were urged to vote for a state school board. Charles B. Crouch, superintendent of Hamilton County schools, said, "The state department of education is a rather remote governmental agency because you are not represented by an elected board of education."

"Since this organization advises us in the administration of a democratic school system, it is only fair that it be created by a more democratic procedure."

Blood Collection Among Vital Red Cross Services

This is the first in a series of articles on agencies participating in the United Appeals fund campaign, showing how your contributions help to make the community a better place in which to live. This year's campaign for $170,461 begins Oct. 12.

—:—

One of the outstanding health programs of today is the Red Cross Blood program sponsored in Marion County by the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross, a participating agency of the 1953-54 United Appeals campaign.

The quick and sure availability of blood and blood products means life to thousands of men, women and children each year.

Blood is procured for the armed forces and national defense, and the wounded in Korea who still will need many pints of blood before full recovery is assured.

Blood is provided for gamma globulin for distribution by the ODM and state public health officers to prevent or modify measles and to prevent paralysis from polio.

LAST YEAR 1,813 pints of blood were collected in Marion County, 1,337 pints of which were used at the Marion City Hospital.

Blood collected by the Red Cross is distributed to hospitals and doctors without charge for the product — no civilian or serviceman ever pays the Red Cross for blood or blood products.

Important as the blood program is, it is just one of the many services offered by the Red Cross. Here are some of the others:

HOME SERVICE: During the past year 1,030 families were served by home service. Verification of emergency leaves and extensions, counselling, and assisting veterans in filing claims for government benefits were the services

Reds Ignore Proposal

Face-to-Face Conference Suggested for U.S., China

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—An influential U. N. diplomat has suggested privately that the United States and Communist China hold face-to-face talks seeking to work out their differences over who should attend the Korean political conference.

While making no formal proposal, this delegate—who was closely connected with arranging the Korean truce—said the two countries could thresh out the problem when and if their representatives meet to discuss details of time and place for the conference.

Lodge Offers Plan

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabat Lodge Jr. has offered on behalf of the U. S. government to send an American representative to talk over these points with the Reds. The Communists so far have ignored the offer.

Chances for the peace conference, scheduled to open Oct. 28, appear dim at present because of Communist insistence that neutrals be invited. The U. N. already has adopted a U. S. plan banning neutrals.

Lodge told the General Assembly that the conference itself could take up the question of whether to invite such countries as India. He said it was a problem for "both sides"—the U. N. and the Reds—and both would be represented at the conference.

Could Report to Assembly

The new idea, tossed out by the prominent neutral, was that "both sides" take up the issue when they meet to discuss technicalities. He said that if they reached agreement, the United States could report the results to the General Assembly and any necessary action could be taken.

The U. S. delegation, saying it had not been approached formally with the idea, withheld comment.

Another point of long standing East-West conflict returned to the

Fears Reds Plot Revolt in Egypt

Infiltration Plagues Naguib's Regime

LONDON (NANA) — Gen. Mohammed Naguib's regime is worried about — Communist infiltration. Chief worrier is Lieut. Col. Zakaria Mohieddin, director of military intelligence and one of the most powerful members of Naguib's military junta. In a statement just issued following a police roundup of "suspects," Colonel Mohieddin emphatically denies rumors that an anti-Naguib conspiracy has been discovered, but admits that the regime is being subjected to a barrage of tendentious rumors designed to create unrest and devised by "professional Communists."

Says Mohieddin: "These rumors are thought up by experts who know the Egyptian people's psychology and lots of money is being spent to keep the racket going." It is comforting, at any rate, to know that someone understands Egyptian psychology.

EUROPEAN-MINDED German and Belgian parliamentary leaders have turned the Siegfried Line (Hitler's springboard for the conquest of Europe) into a symbol of European unity. These leaders have deliberately picked the strongest points in Hitler's much-vaunted "invulnerable" defenses as sites for international rallies sponsored by the European Union Movement.

One rallying point is Udenbreth-Weissenstein, high in the Eifel mountains, near the Ardennes village of Malmedy. To publicize the European unity movement and to make it easy for ordinary Belgians and Germans to attend the rallies, the Belgian-German border near Udenbreth - Weissenstein is flung open from dawn to sunset.

In a typical rally recently, 3,000 Germans and Belgians gathered almost on the boundary line to hear speeches by German and Belgian parliamentary leaders. The speeches pleaded for an end to the destructive wars which, in the past, have set the two countries at each other's throats. The two leaders spoke in an open field in the midst of the crumbled "dragons' teeth" tank traps and the battered bunkers of the shattered line. If local atmosphere means anything, the Germans and Belgians should be shaking hands for years to come.

THE "PRINCESS ELIZABETH" smile which captivated Canadian school children during the recent royal tour there is expected to earn $140,000 for hospitals for crippled children in Canada. A certain Roch Benoit, himself crippled by war service, was so impressed by the sheer joy which the Elizabeth smile brought to Canadian children that he has decided to perpetuate it in a gigantic souvenir scrapbook.

He has spent 19 months, and $5,600 of his own money, in assembling newspaper clippings and photographs of the royal tour into a 1,000-page leather-bound scrapbook. The book is on its way to Buckingham Palace, where Elizabeth, now queen of England, will approve the souvenir of her five-week, 14,000-mile tour of her largest kingdom and will sign the title page. Earl Alexander of Tunis (governor general of Canada at the time of her visit) also will sign and the book will then be exhibited in Canadian cities for two years—to earn contributions for the hospitals.

JAPAN'S 10 LEADING models (headed by Miss Kinuko Ito, who was third in this year's Miss Universe contest in California) have angrily broken away from the Tokyo "Fashion Model" club —the only model organization in Japan. The 10 models claim that the club has not been operating in their best interests, has been insincere in its attitude and has sought to send its members as "entertainers" to dubious parties.

The dissidents have formed their own organization — the "Fashion Model Group." Parties will be strictly the ones they want to go to. Leaders of the old club prophesy that this will come to the same thing, anyway.

FIVE HUNDRED young women teachers employed by Egypt's education ministry have been married in the last three months. Their marriages followed a report that the ministry was about to introduce a regulation to the effect tha women already married would be able o keep their jobs, but that women teachers about to marry would have to resign.

Now the ministry states officially that no such regulation ever was contemplated. The only snag: there isn't a Reno in Egypt.

THE AGE OF THE DOWRY is over. You can take Dr. Evelyn Duval's word for it. Doctor Duval is a sociologist and family relations expert at the University of Chicago. Instead of the dowry, says Dr. Duval, women now work to help out the family income.

Dr. Duval finds, in fact, that the pattern of marriage has changed considerably during the last 50 years. Twenty years ago only 17 per cent of the men helped their wives with the washing up. Today 80 per cent turn to at the sink. Such men, says Dr. Duval, would be offended if their wives had dowries.

Health, Sanitation Problem Will Be Topic of Builders

A dinner meeting featuring discussions of health and sanitation problems in Marion city and county will be held by the Marion Home Builders Association at the Harding Hotel at 6 30 p.m. Thursday.

Guest speaker will be R. H. Augenstein, county sanitarian. His talk will be on "Sewage Disposal for Rural Homes."

Frank L. Warwick, president of the association, said this topic was selected because of the need for better sanitation facilities here. "In the last decade or so Marion has experienced a phenomenal growth," more than "any comparable city of the nation," he said. But civic improvements have not expanded with the building program, he said, adding that the most backward of the civic facilities provided for public welfare are those having to do with sanitation and health. It is because of this the theme for the dinner meeting is on health and sanitation.

Another talk will be given by Dr. J. W. Bull, on zoning, and a movie on installing septic tanks, subsurface filter beds, and disposal fields will be shown.

Other guests will include W. R. Aukland, district sanitarian, and C. S. Helling, assistant district engineer, both of the district office of the state department of sanitation.

Warwick said the meeting will be open to the public and tickets may be obtained from J. C. Ballinger, secretary, or any other member of the Home Builders Association.

Booming Louisiana Lizard Business Stopped by Deputy

DONALDSONVILLE, La. (AP) — Lizards are fine insect killers so three men collected 600 of them to sell to florists.

But today they are charged with "taking and possessing lizards between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m."

Nighttime posession of lizards is illegal according to an old Louisiana law, Reputy Sheriff J. Arthur Sheets explained. Daytime possession is all right.

He didn't explain how you can possess lizards only half a day and expect to keep them.

There are more than 3,500 species of cockroaches.

Youthful Vandals Don't Faze Janitor, Has 4 Watchdogs

BOSTON (AP)—A school custodian suggests he may have the answer to the city's problem of night time vandalism at schools.

Armand Custeau said last night he has kept four dogs with him during the seven years he's been night watchman at the Hugh O'Brien School.

"We haven't had a single act of vandalism at the school," he said, and added: "No one wants to get a piece bitten from their pants by a dog."

Soldier, Wife See Babies Die Of Suffocation

SOUTH HILL, Va. (AP)—An Army sergeant and his wife saw both their babies die Sunday after returning from an afternoon fishing trip to find the children unconscious in the car in which they had been locked for safety.

By the time Sgt. H. E. McCormick and Mrs. McCormick could rush to South Hill for medical assistance, 4-month-old Harold McCormick Jr. was dead. Gracie M. McCormick, 17 months, died enroute to the post hospital at Camp Pickett, 30 miles away, where the sergeant is stationed.

Dr. W. J. Ozlin, Mecklenburg County coroner, said the younger child, apparently died of suffocation.

Army authorities at Camp Pickett said they will investigate the death of the girl.

McCormick said he, his wife and another couple locked the two children in the car on the bank of a lake at Kerr Dam yesterday while the adults went fishing. One window of the car, he told the coroner, was open slightly, and the vehicle was parked within sight of the fishing spot.

Several times, the sergeant said, he noted the older child moving in the car. Then there was no movement, and the couples returned to investigate.

World's Biggest Refinery May Reopen

Oil Interests Keep Wary Eye on Iran

WASHINGTON (NANA) — A broadcast by Radio Teheran recently caused a great stir among oilmen all around the world as the first clear indication that the new government of Iran is getting ready to do business with foreigners looking to restoration of its once-vast oil production.

A Supreme Oil Council set up by the Shah reported that nationalization of the oil industry by former prime minister Mohammed Mossadegh has resulted in a virtually complete stoppage of production and near bankruptcy for the nation.

Compared with an output of 24,000,000 tons a year before nationalization, the report said, Mossadegh, in two years, succeeded in selling only 135,000 tons, for $1,860,000. On account of its abortive effort, the National Oil Company owes the Finance Ministry $19,185,000 and the Iranian National Bank $77,315,000.

The most telling phase of the broadcast, for U. S. oil experts, was its statement that the industry cannot be restored without replacement parts and machinery and that minimum essentials for its restoration are $40,000,000 and 600 oil experts. As the oilmen see it, these requirements must be sought outside Iran.

SEVEN MAJOR OIL cartels which largely monopolize production and marketing in the non-Communist world and which quickly accomplished a tight boycott against Iran's nationalized industry, no doubt are angling singly and collectively for a hand in the resumption of Iranian output. But also there is fear that this restoration will precipitate an already acutely threatened oil-price war all around the globe.

Before World War II, the oil refinery of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company at Abadan (largest in the world) was the one serious competitor of American refineries in supplying finished oil products to Eruope and Asia. Up to that time, the U. S. was overwhelmingly the largest exporter of oil products and, for that reason, prices everywhere were those at Gulf of Mexico ports, plus transportation cost to European or Asiatic destinations. That price system still prevails.

Even before closing of Abadan, competing European refineries were rising and during the last two years progress in that direction has been enormous. Great Britain, France and Italy today each have more refining capacity than all Europe in 1938. That continent soon will be not only caring for its whole refinery needs, but it is very close to finding all its crude oil within itself or from the Near East, rather than from the American continents.

STILL ANOTHER FACTOR disturbing to Europeans is that world oil pricing is based on the American use of 43 per cent of crude oil for gasoline, In Europe only 24 per cent of raw products goes into gasoline, as against 76 per cent for fuel and diesel oil, kerosene and lubricants.

Just recently there was strong complaint because prices of all oil products went up in Europe merely because they were raised in the United States.

On that score, Paul L. Frankel, an official of an independent British refining company, commented:

"If the Americans wish to protect their industry, they should do it at their own border and not at the source, as it were, in other people's countires."

All of which raises the question as to what would happen if the once 700,000-barrel-a-day production of Iran's Abadan refinery suddenly were returned to the now-glutted European oil market. And the decision with that regard may rest with the new Iranian government.

If the Shah's new prime minister, Gen. Zhalli Zahedi, is looking for the quickest possible relief from governmental financial stringency, he probably will make a deal with the big American and British oil companies, which seem to be handing together, so far, through fear of an explosion in dog-eat-dog competition.

IF ZAHEDI CHOOSES to deal with those oil companies collectively, there is hardly any doubt that he can achieve an immediate generous inflow of cash for his government, premised on ultimate oil production, but without waiting for actual income from that source.

Should the premier, on the other hand, decide that Iran is capable of bucking the oil trust, the stake for his country might be much greater and it is by no means certain that he would fail to find independent financial backers sufficient to carry him through.

In fact, there are some men wise in the ways of oil who believe that if the big Abadan refinery should even show signs of attracting independent foreign capital and know-how sufficient to put it back on the world map, the whole structure of oil distribution and pricing would fall like a house of cards.

Certainly, leaders of the oil industry everywhere are watching with all their eyes to see which way the Abadan cat will jump.

Mississippi River Lowest in History

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Mississippi River was believed at its lowest level in history here yesterday.

The reading was zero minus 2.75 feet. The previous low as zero minus 2.65 feet set in November 1895.

"Zero" was the lowest level the river was believed to have ever reached when the markers were set in 1871.

The minus 2.75 reading means the river is about 90 feet deep in midchannel.

Increase in State Sales Tax Receipts Reported

A 14 per cent increase in sales tax receipts in Ohio for the week ending Sept. 19 over the corresponding period in 1952 was noted in a report compiled and released by State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy.

This year's state figure was $3,207,584, while the 1952 period figure was $2,819,775. In Marion County, the figure of $17,044 for the 1953 period was slightly less than the $17,273 noted last year.

Receipts in surrounding counties for the 1953 period were: Crawford, $16,028; Delaware, $8,999; Hardin, Wyandot, $5,810.

Squirrel Season In Ohio Produces Some Nutty Doings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) 1— There have been some nutty doings in Ohio since the squirrel hunting season opened Sept. 14.

For example, there was the Ravenna man whose pet monkey escaped the day before the season opened. He received a call the day after he advertised for his pet in a local newspaper.

"Sorry, buddy," said the voice at the other end of the line. "I thought that was a funny-looking squirrel I shot."

Then there was the brawny hunter who was treated at a Youngstown hospital for squirrel bite.

But Don Mack, Ohio State Journal outdoors editor, thinks the best of all was the hunter who mistook his pal for a squirrel and let loose both barrels.

His friend, wounded but not too badly, fired back. Both ended up in the hospital.

Fordham Observatory Records Severe Quake

NEW YORK (AP)—The Fordham University seismic observatory reported two severe earthquake shocks were registered Sunday night.

The first shock came at 11:43 p.m. EST, the second nine minutes later. Seismograph instruments indicated the intense disturbances took place about 5,000 miles distant in either a northwest direction, which would place them in the Aleution Islands, or to the northeast in Romania.

Government's First Quarter Spending Is Up

Less Taken in Than Was Spent During Similar Period in '52

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government spent more and took in slightly less in the first quarter of this fiscal year than it did a year before.

Spending in the first three months of fiscal 1954, which began July 1, totaled 399 million dollars more than in the first quarter of last fiscal year.

The increase in expenditures contrasted with predictions the administration made in August that spending this fiscal year would total two billion dollars less than last year. However, the budget revisions forecasting reduced spending probably applied mainly to the remaining three quarters of the fiscal year which ends June 30.

A large increase in outlays for farm price supports and a sizable increase in military spending helped push the expenditure total in the first quarter of this year to $18,228,000,000 compared with $17,829,000,000 a year before.

The Treasury's statement of government finances for Sept. 30, released yesterday, showed that for the first three months of fiscal 1954, the government went in the hole $4,311,000,000, or 432 millions more than the red ink operations at this time last year. Net receipts in the first quarter of fiscal 1954 were $13,917,000,000, little diferent from the $13,950,000,000 receipts during the first three months of fiscal 1953.

However, it appeared that the government would probably be able to get by the remainder of the year without a special call to Congress to raise the debt limit.

Montana Boy, 3, Begins Lessons in Geography Early

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Three-year-old Danny Quinlan won't start to school for several years, but he studied geography anyway yesterday.

The tot climbed aboard a Northern Pacific passenger train at Billings and enjoyed his 238-mile ride to Butte "on a great big choo-choo."

When asked how he got on the train, Danny told police: "I got on all by myself."

Danny's presence on the train was not discovered until a young mother learned she had one too many children. She told the conductor, who wired Butte police to meet the train.

Before he reached the mining city, police had Danny pegged as the missing son of Mr. and Mrs Vincent Quinlan of Billings.

Fall Is the Time for Apples and Broiled Ham

Ham and apples have been good eating companions for generations Now with the good supply of many fine varieties at your grocers', it's time to eat apples in old ways and new Here's the newest, apples with curry seasoning, delicious for family and guest meals.

Use 3 tart apples, ¾ cup sugar, 1 cup water, 1½ tablespoons curry powder, 1 tablespoon minced onion, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup finely chopped chutney.

Wash, core and pare apples; cut in half crosswise Combine sugar, water, curry powder, onion and salt in saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring until sugar dissolves. Add apples, cover; simmer 3 to 5 minutes. Turn apples carefully, cover, cook 2 to 3 minutes longer or until apples are easily pierced with a fork but still hold their shape. Remove apples to shallow pan. Continue cooking sugar mixture until it forms a thick syrup. Add chutney. Pour over apples, broil until apples are well-glazed, basting several times with syrup. Serve as a meat accompaniment. Makes 6 servings.

AFL Official Claims Press Protecting Ike

'Great Cover-up' Over Capital Mess, Says Secretary-Treasurer

LOUISVILLE, Ky (AP)—The secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor Monday accused the press of a "great cover-up" for the "Republican mess in Washington.

William F. Schnitzler asserted the press, "with a few exceptions, has dedicated itself to the proposition that the people should know only what the lords of the press want them to know, and should think only what the lords of the press want them to think."

The AFL executive, in a speech prepared for delivery to the annual Kentucky Federation of Labor convention opening today, said ths people who control the channels of communication are lulling the people to sleep "while the forces of blind reaction entrench themselves in power."

He said if the "incessant brainwashing" the press is giving the public is not met with truth, the majority of people in this country will be converted into "the intellectual vassals of reaction and the gullible followers of the most cynical opportunists."

Schnitzler added:

"We used to hear a great deal about a 'mess in Washington' and how a new administration would clean it up Well, they cleaned it up all right — they washed its face, pinned a rose on it, put it in the social register and gave it a membership in the country club It is still a mess of course, but it is a Republican mess now, and that I suppose, automatically makes it respectable."

GOP Realigns Party Control In California

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Earl Warren's departure to become chief justice of the United States has brought the first move for a realignment of Republican forces in California under a Nixon-Knight banner.

It came in letters sent out by Murray Chotiner of Los Angeles, who was Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager, even before former Gov. Warren left yesterday for Washington, leaving Lt Gov. Goodwin J. Knight as governor.

Chotiner's proposal was seen as a direct challenge to supporters of Warren and his close political allies. Republican Senators William F. Knowland and Thomas H Kuchel, for control of the state GOP organization.

The big prize is command of California's 70 or more votes at the 1956 national party convention. It is conceivable that both Nixon and Knowland, Senate majority leader, may try then for the presidential nomination.

Chotiner wrote 500 Nixon election workers to "volunteer your services to the Knight campaign." Nixon sent word from Washington that he endorsed it

Knight, who succeeded to the final 15 months of Warren's third term, is a candidate for election to a full four-year term next year. He also inherited the titular leadership of the state GOP

There was no immediate reaction by Knight

Pumps Enough Blood To Sustain Life

Doctors Told of New Mechanical Heart

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP) — A cut-rate mechanical heart costing only $190 was described today to the American College of Surgeons.

It pumps only 10 per cent of the normal flow of blood. But that apparently is enough to keep a person safely alive long enough for surgeons to open his own vacationing heart, free of blood, to repair defects in it.

This pump, a common commercial type, has been used successfully on dogs and is being adapted to humans. It was reported by Doctors Morley Cohen and C. Walton Lillehei of the University of Minnesota Medical School, Minneapolis.

Mechanical hearts and heart-lung machines have been used successfully on a few humans. These machines are costly and complicated.

The new idea is based on discovery that dogs can be kept alive, without harm, for up to 30 minutes with a pump circulating only 10 per cent of their blood.

This presumably is also true for humans. The artificial heart would have to pump only half a pint to a pint of blood a minute, instead of 4 to 12 pints as the living heart does or present mechanical hearts do.

In dog experiments, the main veins bringing blood to the heart are clamped off, Dr. Cohen explained. A special plastic tube thrust through these veins draws off about 10 per cent of the blood collecting there.

The little pump pulses this blood into one portion of one lung and collects the refreshed blood from a vein in the lung. Then the pump sends the fresh blood into the artery system of the body.

The entire living heart is bypassed, put on holiday.

This artificial heart succeeded in 90 per cent of 63 dogs. Their hearts could be opened up, without hurry, so surgeons could see defects and repair them.

A clue to the secret of hibernation, the cold winter sleep of animals, was reported by Dr. G. A Trusler, Dr. J. E. McBirnie, F G. Pearson, A. G Gornall, Ph D, and Dr. W. G. Bigelow of the University of Toronto.

They find a strange brown-colored fatty tissue in groundhogs. Groundhogs hibernate, and can be chilled down to 5 degrees above freezing and still survive

The brown stuff may be a kind of hibernation gland, helping animals bank their fires of life to a low degree during winter. If half of the brown material is removed, the groundhogs become much more sensitive to cold.

Tribute Paid Famed War Reporter

Indiana Memorial Honors Ernie Pyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernie Pyle lives on.

The din of the Second World War is dying in the distance of time, as the world wheels on to fresh woes and wars and new truces. Many of the heroes of the great conflict are slowly being forgotten.

But Ernie Pyle, the man, has become a legend, and the years have put no tarnish on the luster of his name and fame. People in thousands of homes across America still cherish scrapbooks in which they pasted his stories, and they still get them out and read them.

Why are they so loyal to him eight years after his death? I think it is because he was so loyal to them, and their sons, brothers, fathers or sweethearts in uniform during the lifetime. He was the greatest typewriter tourist guide in history. Nobody before him or since has ever been able to take the home folks by the heart and lead them up to the front and realize the hell their loved ones were going through.

In a National Newspaper Week ceremony Monday they put up a plaque at his old school, Indiana University, in his memory. Ernie became the ninth of America's famous newspapermen so honored by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

His old friend, Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, paid him tribute in the main address, and Ernie would have liked that. But if Pyle the little man who wasn't there, could have heard the praise he would probably have chuckled later in the general's ear, "Brad you're never going to get anywhere until you pull yourself together and learn to quit telling such whoppers."

For Ernie wouldn't have been able to keep his elfin face sober at the ceremony, particularly a ceremony honoring himself. He always thought people managed to make themselves look ridiculous on solemn occasions — like bears riding bicycles. Yet he had a vast sense of the true dignity of man. For all his fun and warmth and sympathy, his own skinny 112-pound frame had an unshakeable dignity, and all you had to do was to see the purpose in his blue eyes to be aware of it. And that gave the real power to is writing.

Ernie Pyle wasn't the first reporter to make a hero of the infantryman. He did much more than that. He was the first to make the nation aware of the immortal dignity of the doughboy, who on every battlefield keeps the stature of a man in the face of the indignities of danger, dirt and death, hunger and hardship.

To Ernie the infantryman wasn't a hero because he fought and killed the enemy. He was a higher hero, one who endured suffering that would debase an animal and yet remained a human being, still moved by love and pity and charity.

That made the doughboy a figure of awesome grandeur to Ernie, and that is Ernie's greatest legacy —that he was able to make America realize the spiritual height of the soldier in combat. And as he suffered with them, he became taller, too.

To the job of war reporting Ernest Taylor Pyle gave his health, his hope of a happy home, his dream of ultimate personal finally—at 44—his life. Whether, if he had it to do all over again, he would take the same path I don't know. I'd guess yes. But anyone who wants to know what war is really like can do no better today than go to his books—or go to war. Nobody ever told it better or more honestly.

A young lady said to me, "Everybody says what a wonderful guy Ernie Pyle was. What did he have, anyway?"

I didn't know where to begin. You can't wrap Ernie in a phrase.

"Well, he had many things," I finally told her. "But I think his greatest gift was understanding. He was lonely, and knew everybody else in the world was lonely in the same way, and somehow he was able to communicate this feeling that he understood them, and therefore everybody felt he was a friend."

Even in his grave they still do.

CALLER. General Paul Ely, newly-appointed chairman of the French Joint Chiefs of Staff, leaves the White House after a conference with President Eisenhower. It is reported the two men spoke of methods to implement the defense of Western Europe.

KOREAN BONUS PROPOSED

CLEVELAND (AP) — Members of the Ohio Legislature are being sounded out on the question of a bonus for Korean War veterans, by Rep. Ray T. Miller Jr., Cleveland Democrat. A constitutional amendment would be required and Miller has sent letters to the legislators asking whether they would favor a special session for it. He said Gov. Frank J. Lausche had indicated a favorable attitude toward the idea.

Scientists estimate there is about twice as much nickel in the earth's crust as copper, zinc and lead combined.

Drivers Urged To Slow Down At End of Day

Motorists were warned to "slow down at sundown" today by Marion Police Chief Tom Coon, Marion County Sheriff Glenn Obenour and Cpl. D. M. DeWalt of the Ohio State Highway Patrol.

In issuing the warning they pointed out this is the slogan for the October night traffic hazard program and is the watchword of the National Safety Council for the month. They noted that speed and darkness make for a deadly combination.

"By speed, we don't mean 50 or 60 miles per hour — or even 40, they explained." We mean a speed that's too fast for driving conditions that call for traveling at much lower speed than you would travel on the same road in daylight.

Whenever visibility is decreased danger is increased, they said. "It stands to reason that driving in dusk or darkness a driver can't see as far ahead as he can in daylight. Therefore, alertness is doubly important, because pedestrians, cyclists and other motorists are all more difficult to see. If the motorists is on the look-out he's more likely to see them in time to avoid an accident.

Wittenberg Enrollment Swelled by New Class

SPRINGFIELD—A 16 per cent increase in freshmen has given Wittenberg College its largest student body since the outbreak of the Korean War, Dean Wendell C. Nystrom announced Thursday.

A total of 960 undergraduates are now enrolled, 43 more than last year and the highest total since September of 1950.

New students this fall number 360. They come from 20 states, two Canadian provinces and eight foreign countries.

Who's Against Taft-Hartley Now?

The East Coast dock tie - up marks the eleventh time the federal government has protected the national safety by using the injunction process provided in the Taf-Hartley Act.

Harry Truman used it 10 times, while pretending for political reasons to be opposed to the Taft-Hartley Act. This is Dwight Eisenhower's first time. He, too, has been hoodwinked into going through the motions of being opposed to the Taft-Hartley Act.

But time changes all things. One of the beneficiaries of the 80-day injunction imposed on the Atlantic waterfront's embattled dockworkers is the American Federation of Labor.

Trouble flared on the waterfront because International Longshoreman's Association, which held a virtual monopoly of contracts with shippers, finally was shown by outside investigators to be so foul that the AFL felt obliged to revoke its charter. AFL then set up a rival union to sign up dockworkers who wanted to break away from the ILA

But ILA leaders are not going to play dead for a rival union They are going to fight. AFL needs time for its organizing drive.

The 80-day injunction which will permit longshoremen to keep working will give the AFL some of the time it needs It will give longshoremen who want to get rid of ILA a chance to keep working.

This is an odd time for any labor leader to be going through the motions of cursing the Taft-Hartley Act For the eleventh time since 1947, it has done what it was supposed to do — protected the people of the United States against the misuse of power by labor leaders.

What Is an Educated Man?

Yale University is in the midst of an inquiry which may cause more excitement than collegiate football this year.

A Yale faculty committee has been digging into a subject being explored by every institution of learning which takes itself seriously: What constitutes an educated man It has proposed some radical changes in Yale's curriculum in the pursuit of an answer to that question

While the changes themselves are interesting, it is their aim which is significant It is shared by every other institution searching for patterns of education which will satisfy educators with a higher purpose than to preside over trade schools and diploma mills

Their common aim is to equip students with enough material in all the areas of intellectual concern to build sound points of view. The best colleges and universities are developing an aversion to academic imposters who claim to be educated because they have satisfied some arbitrary requirement in a single field of contemporary interest which may have nothing whatever to do with academic education

What is going to happen as a result of all inquiries of this kind is clear. The value of advanced education is going to be rated according to the value of the schools which provide it. College degrees will become meaningless unless bestowed by institutions with high standards.

Hip, Hip for Hephzibah

The U S. Weather Bureau has named its newest Caribbean hurricane Gail, with no pun intended. Before this naming storms for women goes any further, there should be an understanding.

Before a lot of carefree climatologists with nothing heavier on their minds than barometric pressure go slandering women by borrowing names like Alice, Barbara and Florence for big winds, they'd better consider the consequences.

After A, B, C, D, E, F and G come H for Hephzibah, I for Isolde, J for Jemima, K for Keziah, L for Letitia, M for Minnie, N for Naomi, O for Ophelia, P for Penelope, Q for Quince-Face, R for Rita, S for Salme, T for Tabitha, U for Unguentine, V for Video, W for Wilhermina, X for Xenophobe, Y for Yolande and Z for Zilpah.

Some of the women in some of our lives are going to be mighty hard to live with if there are 14 more Caribbean storms before the Weather Bureau gets back to A for Alice.

Nothing There

Auguste Piccard of Switzerland has made an unqualified success of his strange career in science.

He has reached both his major goals — the extreme of height and depth. It has been 21 years since he became the first man to penetrate the stratosphere His newest triumph is a descent of more than 10 000 feet into the sea

There was a curious sameness in the two experiences, as described by Prof. Piccard. At the extremes of height and depth, there was nothing to see

The stratosphere and the Stygan depths are unrelieved darkness. There is no defusion of light above the earth's atmosphere, none in the vast caverns of the deep.

Life as men know it has no existence at these extremities and can have none, other than the perilous and temporary existence of some adventurer like Prof. Piccard encased in a ball built to withstand unnatural conditions and equipped with transparent sections through which an earthquake can stare—at nothing.

Apology Due President

By David Lawrence

Durkin Resignation Deliberately Misrepresented

The true story of what happened between President Eisenhower and Martin Durkin has been obtained by this correspondent from an unimpeachable source.

It would have been unnecessary to disclose all the facts concerning the circumstances that led to Durkin's resignation as secretary of labor if it had not been for the manner in which the American Federation of Labors official publication, entitled "News Reporter," has just cast doubt on President Eisenhower's good faith in telling his press conference that he never in his life knowingly broke an agreement with anybody.

The AFL's publication now says in its current issue that a speech made recently by Vice President Nixon at the AFL convention "fully confirmed the truth of Durkin's charges that the President had broken an agreement" with respect to the submission to congress of a message on changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.

The AFL periodical selected as its "proof" a passage from Nixon's speech in which he said that he had had nothing to do with the substance of the message but only with its "timing."

From this the AFL publication infers that there was a "message," the text of which had been agreed upon by the President and Durkin, and that Eisenhower was dissuaded from sending the document to Congress one day at its last session only because of the death of Sen. Taft and because it was deemed perhaps disrespectful to transmit such a message at that time.

The claim is made by labor leaders that Eisenhower changed his mind about sending the message as it had been agreed upon and thereby broke his "agreement" What are the facts?

Fact No. 1· Eisenhower never saw or read the so-called "message" which was really a "working draft" admittedly prepared by members of his secretariat at the White House after various consultations with Durkin and others inside and outside the administration and Congress.

Fact No 2 Vice President Nixon never saw or read the "message" or any papers, drafts or memoranda pertaining to the message before the text of the so-called "message" was published in the newspapers.

Fact No 3· Vice President Nixon did hear at Capitol Hill rumors that a message of some kind was being prepared about the Taft - Hartley Act and he did telephone a member of the White House staff to find out if it was true and, if so, to urge that such a message be held up for a while out of difference to Sen. Taft who was one of the authors of the law about to be revised.

Fact No. 4 At the time Nixon talked over the phone to a member of the White House staff he did not know anything about the contents of the "message" and hence could not, as labor leaders allege, have argued against the transmission of the document on the ground that certain of its provisions were objectionable to him. It was to dispel such an accusation that Nixon mentioned the subject in his address to the AFL.

Fact No. 5: Durkin, immediately after his resignation as secretary of labor, told a press conference that he had had no personal commitment from President Eisenhower concerning the proposed 19 amendments contained in the "message," but that he had had an "agreement" with members of the president's staff about them.

Fact No. 6: Durkin told the AFL convention subsequently that Eisenhower, in a personal meeting he had had with him in New York City, had agreed to send the "message" to Congress even after its text had been published and after various criticisms of its contents had reached the President.

Fact No. 7: Durkin was closeted with the President alone in New York City for only about 10 to 15 minutes and there obviously was no time for a detailed discussion of the 19 amendments but only for some general ideas.

Fact No. 8. Eisenhower assumed that Durkin knew that, of course, after the amendments had been fully studied by his associates and brought to him in final form the administration would naturally submit t to Congress. To this day, however, these studies and discussions have not been completed. There surely will be a message sent to the next session of Congress embodying the administration's views on the Taft-Hartley Act.

Fact No. 9: Nixon familiarized himself with all the facts concerning the resignation of Durkin and told the American Federation of Labor convention that there had been a "misunderstanding." This was intended to be a tactful way of preventing the spread of any accusation that the President was questioning the good faith of Durkin.

Fact No. 10 Durkin favored the draft of the "message" and wanted the administration to approve all 19 of the proposed amendments but the leaders of the AFL and the CIO now say they repudiate these same proposals as inadequate and unsatisfactory.

From the above set of facts it is plain that George Meany and Walter Reuther, presidents of the AFL and CIO respectively, and the AFL in its weekly publication have deliberately for purposes of politics or legislative strategy impugned the good faith of the President of the United States by accusing him of breaking an "agreement" and hence now owe him a public apology.

Stuff a Father

By TRUMAN TWILL

Something should be done about fathers, if there's a chance. They are being squeezed out of the scheme of things.

They are no longer needed to shovel coal or to put in storm windows. They have lost their old-time monopoly on bread-winning.

Women who love the smell of a good cigar or to a mellow pipe can take up these habits themselves, if necessary. The blend of new leather and old whisky can be simulated, if desired, by dumping a cocktail over a handbag.

Unless fathers are salvaged from ruin pretty soon, they won't even be kept on the premises for shoveling snow. Whenever a man tries to make himself useful with a snow shovel any more, someone calls an ambulance

Father cannot fix the family automobile. Unless he has had special training, he is lucky if he can lift the hood.

There is nothing the old guy does about the house, that cannot be done better by machinery. He used to be useful for crushing ice, for example, but the ice now comes in usable form Mother doesn't even need an ice man.

If a father so much as shoves an exploratory finger into the workings of any of the widgits that keep him humping to make the payments on them there is a shrill cry of "Stop that, you fool, before you blow a fuse."

While there are fathers who are trying to right their slide into uselessness by throwing their weight about, they are just as helpless as the rest. The harder they try, the more foolish they appear to be.

The great American matriarchy has crystalized. Women control the check books and sugar bowl They not only handle the egg money but own the chickens

They teach the schools, buy the merchandise, choose the family car, decide what the children will wear and how they'll behave — and are the beneficiaries of the life insurance policies

They live longer and have more fun in the process than men manage to have They dress better, give more time and money to their care and appearance, are better educated in many instances and more intensively cultured when they go in for self-improvement.

This is why something needs to be done about fathers The old boys are going down the drain. It's nice to have a man around the house, but who said anything about fathers?

No one even cares what fathers wear at weddings, as long as they're covered.

If they don't do anything else about it they should stuff an old - fashioned one and put him in the Smithsonian Institution so future generations will know what the breed looked like — bowed back, bowed legs, bowed head and all.

Security Pact Gives U.S. Hold in Asia

By Jay G. Hayden

The saving feature of the mutual-security pact formally signed by Secretary Dulles and Foreign Minister Pyun of South Korea is that it is of no effect until ratified by two-thirds of the U. S. Senate and the vote in that body is unlikely until well into 1954.

The Senate will not reconvene until January and since the main motive of the treaty in the first place was to keep Syngman Rhee's 500,000-man army quiescent during the Korean peace negotiations, the Senate at least may be counted on to hold off ratifacation until the peace situation clarifies.

Attainment of a firm settlement of the Korean problem by the peace conference—a distinctly unlikely prospect at the moment—almost certainly would create strong Senate opposition to unilateral commitment of the United Satates to guardianship of Korea.

Assuming the present division of Korea into two heavily armed camps is continued, either in a peace-conference settlement or by the usual Communist refusal to agree on anything, the Senate may be even less willing to pledge singlehanded U. S. intervention for an indefinite future

True, the treaty stops short of guaranteeing U S military support Modeled after the earlier defensive alliances with Australia and New Zealand, it authorizes the U S to maintain armed forces "in and about Korea," pledges the two nations to regard an attack on either of them as "dangerous to peace and safety" of the other, and commits them to "act to meet the common danger."

This form of international pledge against aggression began with the Pan-American agreement in 1949, which committed all nations on this continent excepting Canada and Mexico to consider measures of mutual defense in event of a non-American attack on any one of them.

There followed successively the North Atlantic Treaty which joined the United States and Canada with nations of Western Europe mutually to resist aggression.

Then came the U. S treaties with the Philippine Islands, Japan, Australia and New Zealand.

It may be argued that, having thus bound itself to join in wars almost everywhere else, the addition of Korea to the sphere of U.S. guardianship is relatuvely inconsequential.

But the Korean pact has at least one notable distinction. It is the first instance in which the U. S. proposes to join hands with a nation on the mainland of Asia, where wars necessarily will be decided mostly on land.

Japan, the Phillipines, Australia, New Zealand, all are islands, concerning which U. S. naval and air forces, as distinct from foot-slogging infantry, very well might prove the victorious factor.

The main military asset of all Asiatic nations is unlimited human cannon fodder, anxious to serve virtually without cash pay. In contrast, one American private soldier anywhere on the Asiatic continent requires something over $12,000 cash a year to maintain, not counting the cost of lifeume pensioning of him or his relatives in event of injury of death.

Sen. Vandenberg mentioned these considerations when, a few weeks after beginning of the Korean war, he told this writer that that conflict, regardless of its cost, might be worth while as a lesson to the American government and people to "keep out of land wars in Asia "

Vandenberg thought at the time the United States, before sending foot soldiers into Korea, should have tried to defeat or make untenable the Communist aggression by use of its navy and air force, striking from the outside

Certainly, if that course had been followed the U. S would not be knee-deep, some hundreds of thousands strong, in the center of Korea, as the case today.

There is a rapidly growing opinion that the main purpose of the Communists in the peace negotiation is to keep large American land forces locked up in Korea.

It is reported that the Chinese already have called home several divisions and are preparing to remove others. North Koreans, so far as they still are alive, seem wholly submissive, if not idologically communized.

The Communists know that, even if the United States were individually inclined to renew the war and extend it into Notrh Korea, the Allies in the United Nations—especially Great Britain, Canada and India—can be depended on to block that course.

At the same time the United States seems bound to maintain all its present forces in Korea in order to prevent President Rhee's native army from running amok.

Perhaps, if the present mutual-defense treaty goes through, the U S will find itself sitting on Rhee, or successor from now on.

Uncle Sammy Claus

By Edward K. Nellor

Plans are sketchy and details few, but it appears certain now that Uncle Sam is going to play Santa Claus to millions of hungry foreigners this Christmas.

The idea, "Christmas packages for the poor," filled with edible surpluses from the government's vast storehouse of eggs, butter, beef and grains, is past the preliminary discussion stage by government officials.

Talks are being held in private; details are secret. Congress has to be sold on the idea—along with the American taxpayer — so officials want to wait until the plan can be wrapped in holiday tinsel before it is laid in the laps of the nation's lawmakers.

Top officials of the Department of Agriculture, the Mutual Security Administration, and private individuals representing such organizations as the American Friends Committee, the National Catholic Welfare Council, and others, have been in conference in Washington recently.

With reservations all have approved the preliminary planning and have endorsed the idea.

Here's what it amounts to· Vast tons of stored butter, powdered eggs, canned beef, flour and lard will be bundled up in Christmas-wrapped packages for distribution to needy in Europe and Asia during the Yule season The packages will be marked "From the American People," and will contain more food than any previous gift-food package ever distributed government or private sources.

The idea grew out of the success of the free food packages distributed to East Berliners. It was nurtured into being by worried Department of Agriculture officials, including Secretary Benson, who shudder every time they read the daily report on mounting food surpluses plaguing farmers and consumers alike.

The benefits accuring from the idea: More friends in Europe and Asia; a cutback in surpluses, a sincere expression of faith and good will on the part of the American people for the hungry and sick of the world.

The hope is that religious leaders here and abroad will unite behind the plan and take part in the distribution once the Christmas packages have reached their cities overseas.

The United Nations will be kept advised but will have no part in the preparation of distribution of the Yule food packages. It will be strictly a U S A idea—presenting to the less fortunate overseas a share of our own good fortune.

Planners consider this advisable for two reasons. First, the food has been produced and paid for by Americans Second, the United Nations is somewhat less than popular in various sections of the U S.

Queries at the Department of Agriculture and elsewhere concerning the Christmas food packages draw a "no comment" from officials. If the plan is okayed all the way around in official Washington, presumably including the White House — where the idea will undoubtedly be launched by the President in a speech — a vast amount of rush work to get the food overseas by Christmas will be necessary.

At present plans call for assistance from charitable, church and private relief agencies, as well as volunteers from among the American people at large.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Bubble, Bauble, Toil and Traubel

Helen Traubel, who scaled the heights of public popularity in a switcheroo from grand opera to TV comedy appearances with Jimmy Durante, has quit the Metropolitan rather than obey a request from Rudy Bing that she cut her night club schedules.

Helen has, in a manner of speaking, struck gold in the switch from Wagner to Dagmar.

Her hassel with the Metropolitan was probably marked by inner hesitations voiced in the Durante classic, "Didja ever have a feelin' ya wanted to go and still have a feelin' ya wanted to stay?"

The 38th parellel between grand opera and the bistros began to disappear some years back when TV crossed the line, reinforcements from the Nitery & Hotel Brigade throwing in heavy support.

Helen was captured Now she has refused "repatriation" by the Metropolitan and elected to stick with the niteries, TV, etc. And why not?

She is making more money and winning greater acclaim than is possible through the opera. We criticize nothing but the correspondence between her and Bing

In it both sing off key, appear in the wrong costumes and seem lost in the big Wagnerian war scenes.

All Rudolf had to write was "I am asking you to quit the niteries or else" And all Helen needed to reply was, "Lissen, Rudy, I'm no fool, neither is my manager." But their messages rivaled the ones between Eisenbower and Durkin

"Artistic dignity is not a matter of where one sings," wrote Helen. But isn't it? Do you look for a Winslow Homer among the comic strips, hunt for Kreisler among the musicians in the Brooklyn Dodgers' symphony or seek a Melba at Toot Shor's?)

"The time has come for American artists to recognize that American music is as much within their province as Wagner and Bethoven.

To assert that art can be found at the Metropolitan but not in the nightclubs is a snobbery that underrates both the taste of the public and the talents of the composers," adds Miss Traubel. (Yeh, but are American artists recognizing that popular tunes are as much within their province as Wagner's or just recognizing that night-club contracts are fatter?)

In other words, isn't it a recognition—and who is to knock it"—that American dollars available by truck are nicer than when the delivery can be made by paper bag?

And who says art can be found at the Met but not in niteries' Some of the greatest artists are in the bistros. All Mr. Bing says is that he doesn't think the Met should have to play opposition to its own talent.

Helen, you're wonderful. You're a natural headliner with color, gusto, charm and a great voice You're cashing in, and more power to you! But the Met has a point

And as for those letters, you and Bing can talk plainer than that.

Indication is that not only Miltie, but General Motors, wants to play Shakespeare. Under the new sponsor, there should have been a quartet singing "I change the oil and check all through, I even change the sponsor, too."

A New England university announces TV courses for college credits Open to students or to the outside public. This can bring the faculty, the campus and the lecture hall into the living room by outside aerial It is entirely possible that years to come may bring the query "What channel were you educated in" and the answer, "I'm a Channel Five grad, class of 1958 Rowed on the WIIC crew." The two courses will be "Living With Literature," by Dr. Abraham Knepler and "Personal Adjustments in Family Life," by Dr Milton Millhauser Neither title rings the TV bell. How about retitling the courses, "Hi ho, Knepler!" and "Milton Rides Again"?

Losses Decline, Police Report

Warning System Discourages Bad Check Passers

Bad check passers are finding things pretty difficult for them in Marion these days. Since the institution of a warning system by the Chamber of Commerce in May, the number of bad checks in the area has declined greatly.

The system works on the same order as the once-popular pyramid club.

When a merchant is asked to cash a check by a person he considers suspicious, the merchant calls police.

If police agree the circumstances are suspicious, they call the Chamber of Commerce.

A member of the Chamber then places three phone calls to other merchants in the city.

—:—

THE THREE contacted merchants in turn call from one to three more merchants and the process is continued until the 70 business places in the city working on the program are alerted to the presence of the person.

The entire process is estimated to take about ten minutes, at the end of which time, almost the entire business section of town is alerted.

Failure or refusal to offer identification is one of the main things which arouses the suspicions of a merchant. Police Chief Tom Coon has urged all business establishments in the city to require positive identification of persons cashing checks in their places.

In addition to seeing either a person's driver's license or draft registration card, the Chief urges businessmen to have the check submitter place his right thumb print under the signature, and give his address.

THE EFFECTIVENESS of the warning system can best be illustrated by a glance at the police records on bad check passings in Marion so far this year.

During the first five months, until the plan was put into operation, police received reports of 18 instances of bad check passings. In many of these instances, more than one check was cashed at a time.

Since May, when the program went into full swing, only four instances of bad check cashing have been reported to police. During August, one instance was related. That time, one person passed four forged checks at one place.

NO BAD CHECKS were passed here during September but the alarm system was used once. A man asked the operator of a filling station to cash a $60 check and was asked for identification.

The man went to his car, supposedly to get his driver's license. But he failed to return, and the filling station manager phoned police who relayed the message to the Chamber. Within 10 minutes, the 70 merchants in town participating in the plan were warned.

The same man is reported to have attempted to pass the check in three other establishments here in town before giving up because of the insistence of the alerted businessmen that he supply positive identification.

Local merchants began to worry about the problem after a rash of bad checks early this year.

In May, Chief Coon and Patrolman Z. G. McClenathan spoke before the Retail Merchants Divison of the Chamber of Commerce and urged more measures be taken to halt the rash of phony checks which had become a major problem.

AFTER THAT, the warning system gained impetus, until now, there are 70 merchants in the plan. Other merchants desirous of entering the plan are welcome. Their only requirement is that they phone, immediately, the firms assigned to them, after receiving a warning.

When a merchant becomes suspicious of a person attempting to pass a check, he is advised to get the name of the person if he can, his description, the bank on which the check is drawn, the amount of the check, and, if possible, the license number of the car which the person is driving.

These facts are then to be phoned either to the Chamber of Commerce or police headquarters.

HERE IN MARION, bad check passers have no favorite spots for passing their phonies, according to Chief Coon. He said police have received reports from downtown stores, filling stations, taverns and neighborhood grocery stores.

He made five classifications as to the type of checks which may be passed. They are: the plain forged check; the stolen check with forged endorsement; the forged payroll check; the stolen blanks with the amount filled in by the professional's own check writing machine; and the checks drawn on insufficient funds.

Chief Coon said the new warning plan has served three purposes.

First: it made all merchants both in and out of the system aware of bad checks and the need for requiring identification before cashing them.

Then it served as a preventive to future check passers. He said if the professional criminal is aware of the program, he will hesitate to come to the city to peddle his worthless checks.

Finally the alarm plan serves as an aid in the apprehension of the passer. Many times, if a person is successful in one store in the city, he will try to get rid of others at the next store and so may be caught in the act by the alerted store manager or employe.

Employment of Handicapped Urged as NEPH Week Opens

Joining other city officials throughout the nation, Mayor Harold F. Robinson has set aside this week as "National Employ the Physically Handicapped," week in Marion.

Signing similar proclamations were President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the governors of their respective states.

In signing the proclamation, Mayor Robinson urged all Marionites to do everything within their power to assist physically limited individuals in their employment problems. He urged them to give these workers opportunities to use their talents and remaining abilities, and not to show prejudice against them because of physical limitations.

The proclamation stated that "the continued growth and prosperity of this community is dependent upon the employment of all those who are ready, willing and able to work, including the physically handicapped."

Embodied in the proclamation was the fact that the efficiency and value of physically limited workers have been demonstrated time and time again. He stressed the fact that there is an ever-present need for public support to assist in the extension of he employment of these persons on the basis of their proven abilities.

"I do earnestly urge the citizens of this community to work diligently with the Marion Employ the Physically Handicapped Committee and the Ohio State Employment Service in the promotion of the observance of this occasion: and I do hereby proclaim the week beginning Oct. 4, 1953, as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week in the city of Marion," his proclamation said.

Fall Fashion Note On Women's Coats: Big Collar or None

LONDON (NANA) — The new coats from the collections of the fashion houses tend to have huge collars, or none at all.

One designer produced an ingenious shawl collar that can muffle up to the chin, or can be worn as a stole. There is, too, considerable emphasis on fur as one of the season's smartest trimmings.

Most of us will rejoice to see fur back in general fashion favor, as it is the one all-day-round trim which adds that extra something to what you wear.

If you choose a collarless coat, you may find a fur scarf or stole will almost always be right, and for evening wear you can achieve the right fur finish with a stole or bolero. Fur scarves for evening are becoming more and more popular in the fashion centers on both sides of the Atlantic.

Another bright piece of news intended to bring variety into your wardrobe, comes with the novelty skirt in "knobbly" wool, which can be worn with many tops to give you the feeling of having an extensive, but inexpensive, wardrobe.

Tweeds, of course, are quite outstanding this year, and now appear in an unchallenged position as suitable for both town and country wear Some of the smartest town suits seen have, in fact, been in one or other of the rougher-surfaced tweeds.

If you are to be wearing a fabric stole, remember that the newest point this year is that the long, rectangular ones are given strength of outline by having edges bound in satin or velvet

On the whole, most day dresses require few trimmings, relying rather on drapery for detail, so that you should remember also to give fancy trimmings a background role this season.

A flash from Paris on this subject—Christian Dior prefers plain rusher-braid to bind the minutely buttoned fastenings of his redingote frocks.

Ribbon trimmings are favored for evening gowns, particularly where plain velvet or satin ribbons are used for bustling, which many of you will find flattering, especially those of you have to plan carefully to achieve the graceful, long-legged look which shows off fashions to perfection.

Cohn of the Toledo district.

Construction Work At Training School Advances Rapidly

Construction of the first units of a total $8 million expansion program at the Marion Training School is now approximately 75 per cent completed.

Superintendent Lamoyne Green said construction work on five dormitory wings, a power house, and three other buildings is advancing on schedule. Construction of a second part of the expansion program has just started.

Construction of the first part of the program began in May. The Steinle-Wolfe Construction Co. of Fremont was awarded general construction contract. Completion of the first portion of the project, costing approximately $3-million, will raise the capacity of the school from about 115 to some 750 inmates.

Completion of the second portion, costing about $5 million, will further raise the capacity to 1,500. General contractor for this phase is the Knowlton Construction Co.

Target date for completion of the first phase of construction in the expansion is May of next year. Copletion of the second portion is planned for sometime in 1955 or early in 1956.

Leipzig Fair a Sham

British Find You Can't Do Business With Reds

The writer, reporting from this year's Leipzig Fair, tells the truth about Communist cries that they want to trade with the West.

By ANTONY TERRY

LEIPZIG (NANA) — Several hundred British businessmen, including some starry-eyed fellow travelers, but the majority just hard-headed manufacturers, have just spent several weeks without realizing it in a full-scale Communist tinsel-and-sauerkraut "paradise"—built specially to impress them.

The men from Bradford, Manchester, London and Sheffield were promised "vast contracts with the peoples of the free democracies" when they booked their air passages to Leipzig Fair. Europe's oldest and most famous international businessmen's meeting place has been going on for nearly 700 years.

Britain's businessmen who visited bomb-battered Leipzig this year to buy and sell, spent hundreds of tedious, frustrating hours waiting in queues before surely Communist officials would serve them with visas, permits, passes, money and even permission to leave the Red "paradise." Despite the promises, the contracts are mostly still "under discussion."

DOING BUSINESS with the Reds means negotiating through countless middlemen with a dozen invisible "ministries" who have the power to veto anything or anybody without explanation.

Yet, in spite of their trading policy, the Communists really are anxious to do business—on their own terms.

That is why British firms sent their representatives to Leipzig this year, hoping to fill some of the gaps left in their order books by changing world conditions. They had been sent to discuss certain types of specialized electrical equipment.

Communist officials at Leipzig this year turned on tawdry Red "hospitality" and window dressing to impress the Britons. Weeks before the fair workmen were busy removing all traces of the riots in June.

Then angry mobs, shouting "down with the Communist puppet leaders," burned out the Red propaganda headquarters outside Leipzig's main railway station, tore down thousands of Communist posters and slogans and beat up party officials. By the time the first British and other foreigners arrived, Leipzig was wearing a glassy grin of Marxist welcome.

THERE WAS EVEN a special hotel in the center of the town where British visitors, their wives and staffs from Britain's mission to the Soviets lived in luxury suites.

Attractive girl interpreters were provided for the visiting businessmen. Dressed in the smartest clothes East Germany could provide, their job was to stick to their charges throughout their waking hours.

Privately they kept a note of all their conversations, whom they met and where they went. Many of these girls were Communist agents who had spent considerable periods abroad since the war in Britain and West Germany.

Allegedly then they were "refugees." Today they have returned to East Germany with jobs guaranteed.

CRANBERRY QUEEN. Something new in royalty is presented by this year's Cranberry Queen, a Cape Cod beauty, whose name is being kept secret by the Massachusetts officials. However, what is in a name when she can smile so brightly?

RULES IN AKRON DEATH

AKRON Ohio (AP)—Coroner William J. Pittenger has ruled Abe Sandler, 35, committed suicide by leaping in front of an automobile driven by a Kent State University student along Rt. 5 at Silver Lake.

2-State Search On for Former Convict, Girl, 15

CRANDON, Wis. (AP)—A two-state hunt was on today for an ex-convict and a 15-year-old girl he reportedly abducted from in front of her home here Saturday.

Florence County Undersheriff Iner Osgood reported last night that Betty Bailey had been forced into an auto and spirited away by a former convict he identified as James Shelton, 40. Shelton, who has served a term in Waupun State Prison for car theft and recently completed a jail sentence here for drunken driving, roomed at the house of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Bailey, the officer said.

Shelton shoved Betty into his car after her mother told him he no longer could room at the Bailey home, Osgood declared. With Shelton was 17-year-old Jack Bailey, Betty's cousin, who also has a police record, he said. Shelton and the Baileys came here from Kentucky.

Ohio Convict Caught 2½ Years After Break

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles Allard, 75, who escaped from the Ohio Penitentiary, Junction City branch, 2½ years ago, is on his way back to Ohio. Allard was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1906 for slaying a tavern keeper during a robbery near Columbus, Ohio. He surrendered to FBI agents Friday and was turned over to Ohio authorities for extradition yesterday.

Knowland Rips Proposed Pact With Russians

Non-Aggression Plan Of Stevenson's Hit By GOP Floor Leader

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) let fly yesterday with a double - barreled blast against the kind of nonaggression pact with Russia proposed by Adlai E. Stevenson and against what he termed yielding by India to some Red China policies.

Knowland is Republican floor leader in the Senate, but he maintained he was speaking for himself, not as a member of the Eisenhower administration. There was no White House comment, but Sen. Theodore F. Green (D-RI) said: "I hope he is not reflecting White House views . . . Does he think we can fight the whole world alone?"

Will Oppose Pact

Fresh from weekend conferences with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, Knowland told a news conference he would oppose any pact guaranteeing Russia's borders unless the Soviets agreed in advance to free elections in their satellite nations.

Knowland verbally spanked Prime Minister Nehru of India. He said Nehru speaks for only a part of Asia, and that if Nehru's voice was paramount the ultimate communization of Asia would be in prospect.

Knowland, just returned from a world tour, accused India of "yielding to the policies of the Chinese Communists before there is any peace conference in Korea" and "handicapping the peace as they handicapped the war."

Rap Adlai's Proposal

The Californian struck out directly at a proposal by Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, that the United States offer Russia a system of nonaggression guarantees in a move to force a showdown with the Soviets in the cold war.

Stevenson said after a White House conference last Thursday that Eisenhower was weighing the suggestion.

Sen. Green, like Knowland a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the Republican leader "sounds like the small boy watching a parade who said 'Everybody's out of step but my papa.'"

"I hope he is not reflecting White House views," Green said. "Can't we get on with anyone? Does he think we can fight the whole world alone? It's unfortunate he has to put these views on record at such a critical time as we're having in the Korean affair."

Union, Vinton and Wyandot counties.

First Assessment

A first assessment in 1947 yielded about $290,000 to get more money to complete organization. The district made a second three tenths of a mill levy intended to produce more than $300,000 last year.

Auditors of Delaware and Union counties refused to make the levy. The district brought mandamus actions directly in the Supreme Court to compel the assessments. The court denied mandamus writs.

In a separate action, Prosecutor Clyde E. Lewis of Delaware County challenged legality of the second levy.

Held It a Tax

The court held it was a tax instead of an assessment and refused to require proceedings for its collection.

Judges said a tax inside the state's constitutional 10-mill limitation on property taxes should be submitted to county budget commissions for approval. If outside the limitation, voters should have an opportunity at the polls to approve or reject it, the court added.

The district followed neither course, the court observed in its July 15 decision on the suits. Pretzman predicted a tax attempt would fail for lack of general acceptance.

Rehearing Denied

The district asked a rehearing but the court last week turned down the request.

Pretzman said that was the final word in the dispute. Counties that had collected the second levy prepared to refund the money. The secretary expressed belief that all counties in the district except Union and Delaware had made collections.

Maurice Clements, county auditor, reported the collection had been made in Marion and that the funds will be held until his office receives permission for their returns to taxpayers.

He added that he was not sure who has the authority to grant such permission and that Attorney-General C William O'Neill may have to be consulted for a clarification of the matter.

A total of $22,281.11 was collected here for the district in the December tax collection. The total charge was $24,436 29, leaving a delinquency of $2,155.18 wich will probably be remitted, Clements said.

Pretzmen said a decision on questions involving conservancy districts is pending in Defiance County. There the Allen County prosecutor asked common pleas court for a declaratory judgment to settle questions about funds collected.

But Pretzman frankly said he didn't know where the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District would go from here.

in greatest demand. Charlton Myers is chairman of the home service committee.

DISASTER: The principal role of the Red Cross in disasters is immediate and long-term help for victims Immediate emergency help consists of providing food, clothing, shelter and medicine. Long-term aid, which accounts for about 70 cents of the Red Cross disaster dollar, means rebuilding and repairing homes, providing maintenance, medical care and sometimes, training for a new job. All Red Cross help to disaster victims is an outright gift—no charge is ever made for relief supplies or services. Lowell Douce is chairman of the Disaster committee.

SAFETY SERVICES: These include first aid, Walter Baker, chairman, and water safety service, R. H. Brandt, chairman. Helping to train Americans everywhere to protect themselves, their families, and their neighbors against the hazards of accident or sudden illness is the job of Red Cross safety services. Last year 65 persons completed first aid instruction and received certificates. In water safety 162 persons completed their instruction and received certificates as beginners, intermediates and swimmers. Sixteen persons were authorized to become Red Cross life savers.

NURSING SERVICES: To make better nursing care available to more people, the Red Cross nursing service program includes home care of the sick, Mrs. Harry Seiter, chairman. Last year 33 persons completed this course and received certificates. Enrollment of nurses, Miss Clara Todaro, chairman, is a second program. This service has enrolled 71 nurses in Marion County chapter; 43 are active in the blood program. This service also recruits nurses for disaster and epidemic duty.

—:—

JUNIOR RED CROSS: This provides school children with opportunities for local, national and international service. The Marion County Junior Red Cross sent gifts to the Veterans Hospital, gift boxes and soft toys to Washington for shipment over-seas. Cookies, book marks, favors, pop corn balls, decorated napkins were provided for the rest homes, the Waddell Ladies' Home, the Children's Home, the County Home and the City Hospital. Patty Holiday is president of the Junior Red Cross City-County Council.

Businessmen, housewives, career women, bankers, farmers, professional men and women, students and people from all walks of life make up the volunteer staff of the Red Cross. Marion County Chapter has seven active volunteer groups.

ADMINISTRATIVE: This consists of administering all of the services, recruiting and training new volunteers, keeping up with the demands of more and more volunteer service. Mrs. John P. Courtright, chairman, is assisted by Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer and Mrs Gladys Arter. Last year these persons volunteered 165 hours.

—:—

CANTEEN: Members of this service prepare and serve food wherever and whenever the need arises. Miss Ruth Kleinmaier is chairman, her assistants are: Mrs. Homer Waddell, Mrs. E. Paul Bachman, Mrs. Harold Mesiter and Miss Elizabeth Ammann. During the year 43 persons served 734 hours.

—:—

GRAY LADY: These volunteers serve in the Blood Center and the hospital Visiting wards they provide many personal services for patients. Mrs. Arthur Smith is chairman of this service. During the past year 24 persons gave 1,390 hours.

—:—

MOTOR SERVICE: This is the Red Cross transportation service and works jointly with other Red Cross services. Mrs. B. C. Moloney is chairman. Four persons volunteered 152 hours last year.

—:—

SOCIAL WELFARE AIDE: Social welfare aides assist Home Service in helping to solve many problems that come to servicemen, veterans and their dependents. Mrs. W. A. Dennis is chairman During the past year two persons volunteered 1,141 hours.

—:—

STAFF AIDE: These volunteers work as typists, file clerks, receptionists and in a variety of other assignments. They serve in the blood centers, hospitals, and the chapter office. Mrs M C. Murphy is chairman Assisting her are Mrs. George Darling, Miss Mary Jo Stafford and Mrs W. P. Mahaffey Thirty-serven persons gave 2,087 hours during the year

VOLUNTEER NURSE'S AIDE: Working under the guidance of graduate nurses, this service provides supplementary nursing care in hospitals, health agencies and blood centers. Mrs. Carl Meek is chairman, assisting her is Mrs. Goldie Swope. Seventeen persons volunteered 285 hours at the Blood Center during the past year.

United Appeals Campaign Facts

Q. How do I know the money is spent with prudence and not wasted?

A. Each participating organization in United Appeals gets a double-check budgetwise First each agency budgets itself. For example, in the Community Chest Red Feather Agencies a budget committee of neutral, community-minded citizens reviews all budgets after year-round stewardship by budget stewards. A real danger exists when an agency is carried away by an unrealistic sense of proportion generated from the enthusiasm flowing from its importance to a balanced and orderly pattern of health and welfare services in a community. As a protective safeguard, a hard-headed volunteer budget committee composed of business men, labor representatives, professional men, and home-makers spend many hours in a series of budget conferences. Here the givers have the benefit of trained and informed minds to counsel agency personnel where they could cut corners and trim expenses, and still get the community service assignment of their organization done right.

would give anything to get his son back. However, the family has denied published reports a $500,000 ransom had been demanded.

Greenlease is considered one of the 10 richest men in Kansas City

Rumors became rampant here yesterday. One report circulated had a payoff set for Chicago.

Paul Greenlease, adopted son who is associated with his father in business, said there was nothing to the Chicago story but made no further comment.

The FBI here and at Washington met all queries about the case with "no comment." The agency declined to say whether it had entered the case officially under the Lindbergh law. The law says the FBI can enter the case after seven days on the assumption the victim has been taken across a state line by that time

Police Chief Bernard Brannon insisted he had "no knowledge" of an approaching break. He said police still were keeping hands off at the request of the family.

The boy was kidnaped by a woman from the exclusive French Institute of Notre Dame de Sion a week ago yesterday.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p.m. Wednesday and until the time of funeral services Thursday Burial will be in Prospect Cemetery.

Six Other Accidents

Two persons were injured in six other traffic accidents in the city and county investigated by police and the Marion County sheriff's office.

A Marion motorist was issued a traffic citation following an accident at E. Church and S. State Sts. at 1:01 p m. yesterday in which a pedestrian, Mrs Charles Edler of 451½ N. Main St. was injured

Police reported Charles C. Robinson, 72, of 574 Lee St. was driving north on S. State St. making a left turn onto E. Church St. and struck Mrs. Edler as she walked south across E. Church St.

Mrs. Edler was knocked down and received a bruised left hip and cuts on her fingers and knees. She was treated at a nearby doctor's office.

Robinson was cited to appear in Municipal Court today on a charge of failure to yield the right of way and was fined $10 and costs.

A car driven by J E. Walker, 29, of 251 Patterson St and a truck driven by Charles D. Mories, 54, of 1013 N State St were damaged in an accident just east of N. State St. on Quarry St. at 5:06 p m. yesterday.

A parked truck owned by the Spotless Dry Cleaners of 249 W. Center St. rolled backwards into a car parked on Holmes Pl. and owned by William Varner of 280 Barnhart St. at 5:35 p m. yesterday.

Cars driven by Thomas B Evans Jr, 53, of Cincinnati was damaged when struck by a car driven by Jack N. Sullivan, 31, of Caledonia on W. Center St at the New York Central Railroad crossing at 9 11 a.m. yesterday.

Autos Badly Damaged

Injury to one person and considerable damage to two automobiles resulted from an accident investigated this morning by the Marion County sheriff's office.

Howard R. Price, 26, of near LaRue, sustained a bruised knee and a cut eyelid when his automobile and one driven by Miss Jean Love of 782 Cheney Ave collided on State Route 95 just west of Marion.

Miss Love told the investigating officer that she was making a left turn onto the Campbell Rd She was westbound on 95 and Price eastbound. Time of the accident was 7.05 a m. The Love automobile was removed by a Short wrecker, while the Price car was removed by a Midtown wrecker.

MARIONITE SLIGHTLY HURT

GALION—Miss Lillian E Plack of Marion, executive secretary of the Marion Red Cross chapter, was treated in Galion City Hospital, here, Saturday night, following an accident. She suffered a knee abrasion in the accident in which her car collided with one driven by Edwin M. Boutwell, 42, of Galion He was cited to appear before Mayor Jay F Nichols on a reckless operation charge. Miss Plack is the daughter of Mrs. Caroline Plack, Galion.

Alleged Police Payoff Probed In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A major investigation is under way in the police department of the nation's third largest city—shaken by a self-styled "payoff" man's story that he paid thousands of dollars to buy police protection for a numbers gang.

Police Commissioner Thomas J Gibbons summoned an inspector and 11 sergeants and captains to report today for a face-to-face meeting with the man, Harry Lowry.

Another patrolman, suspended Sunday in connection with the investigation, failed to show up yesterday for a session with Dist Atty. Richardson Dilworth and couldn't be found

Lowry was released from Delaware County Prison Sept. 19 after serving six months on a numbers charge For undisclosed reasons he went to Gibbons with his story.

Crippled Children Society Aids NEPH Week Observance

Cooperating in observing National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, which began Monday, is the Ohio Society for Crippled Children.

In noting the week, the Society is asking Marionites along with other Ohioans to keep in mind "the continuing need to give a chance to all of our citizens." Among those who need that chance are the crippled, whose number, because of accidents and disease, is increasing by 800,000 each year, according to statistics released by the Society.

When the week was first set aside nine years ago by Congress, one objective was to remind employers that wounded veterans of World War II did one job well and could effectively do another

Disabled soldiers, who have proved their ability, are among the eight million crippled persons who contribute with efficiency to the national production output.

Serving the crippled in Ohio is The Ohio Society for Crippled Children and its 101 affiliated societies.

Talks Freely

Thimayya answered dozens of questions fired by both Allied and Communist newsmen in a 1 hour and 40 minute news confeience at his headquarters in the demilitarized zone near Panmunjom.

Asked if the 5,500 Indian troops guarding the POWs would try to quell a mass escape attempt, Thimayya answered with a flat "no."

He added he was confident the crack Indian troops would halt a breakout, but commented.

"I do not think we would try to check a mass breakout because of the terrible slaughter, which no civilized nation could perpetrate."

Thimayya said Indian forces had asked for gas masks and tear gas.

The Indians put down—but not without bloodshed—two attempted breakouts by anti-Communist prisoners during riotous demonstrations last week. Three prisoners were killed and 10 wounded.

firm and just and durable peace" must come before atomic energy can be devoted to peaceful use He added:

"Such a peace, cannot be achieved suddenly by force, by edict or by treaty. It can come only slowly and tortuously. It will not be won by dark threats or glittering slogans It will be born only of courage, knowledge, patience, leadership.

"To strive faithfully for this peace—even as our science constantly develops new methods of mass destruction—imposed upon us a host of intricate labors.

"We and our friends in the free world must build, maintain and pay for a military might assuring us reasonable safety from attack

"From this position of secure confidence, we must seek to know and respond to the legitimate aspirations and hopes of all peoples."

The President told the church women that "in the terrifying nakedness of the battlefield, the faith and the spirit of men are the keys to survival and victory."

Entries in Junior Steer Show Include Marion Fair Champion

One of the prize steers to be offered for sale at the sixth annual Junior Steer Show and Sale Friday night will be the grand champion steer of the Marion County Junior Fair.

Don McCoy of Claridon Buckeye Lads 4-H Club will enter his 1,100 pound steer in the sale which is to be held at the stockyards of the Producers Livestock Cooperative Association located at the end of W Center St.

The Hereford, which won championships in the junior division of both the Marion fair and the Mt Gilead fair, is expected to be the object of intensive bidding by those persons in the market for choice beef

Second Entry

The champion steer, which is 14-months-old, will be the second entry for McCoy in the Junior Steer Sale. Last year, he entered a 960-pound Black Angus which sold for about $350.

Thirteen-year-old McCoy expects to obtain a higher price for his beef this year. Bidding for the steer will be buyers from commercial packing houses, grocery stores, and individuals.

McCoy's animal is only one of the 105 steers entered in the sale. Ellwood Parrott of the Agricultural Extension Service announced the number today. He said that although entries were supposed to be closed two weeks ago, they were still arriving at his office.

Sets New Record

This is the largest number of entries in the history of the sale. Last year, there were 78 entries, a record then.

Head auctioneer for the sale will be Forest Day of Sunbury. Clifford Campbell, secretary of the Marion fair borad, will be clerk at the sale.

The show opens at 1 p m. with a showmanship and judging contest

Trophies donated by area merchants will be presented to the winners. With the large number of entrants, the show is expected to last until dinner time.

The sale is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Animals entered are projects of youths in 4-H Club and FFA chapters. A number of entries have come from youths in adjoining counties.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

There comes a time with all people when they weary of the incessant discussion of the same things, the same ideas, the same names. They find the yak - yak of politics deafening and no longer impressive.

SOKOLSKY

They refuse to be frightened by those who view with alarm; they are no longer overjoyed by those who see only a roseate prospect.

They want to tend to their own little affairs which, if they are pleasant, add to the joy of living; if they are sad and tragic, are within the bosom of the family.

THIS SEEMS to be such a time. There is less fighting on earth than we Americans have become accustomed to. The fear of losing sons is, for the moment, over.

Look at the agenda of the General Assembly of the United Nations, it is the same as last year's and as the year before that. The same subjects. The same speeches.

So, we are still discussing the subject of the Korean truce. For 25 months it was discussed at Panmunjom; now it is being discussed at the United Nations; soon it might be discussed at some conference.

Most people turn from the whole subject and wonder whether they might not just as well wait until something conclusive happens.

Who is right? The Mongols marched under the banners of Genghis Kahn but they did not know that they were the pawns of history.

THEY MARCHED; they killed; they conquered; they died. They never knew why.

We are supposed to be literate, if not educated. We should be able to understand what we are about. We have a government of our own choice, responsibile to us. We are in control of our own money, or we believe that we are. We vote at elections over high principles and great issues.

Yet, we are often mastered by the course of events and unless the pressure is too great upon us, we seek to escape the consequences of the pressures.

WE ESCAPE in pleasures; sometimes we even try to escape in ignorance — in an avoidance of the facts, in an acceptance of what we hope may be true, of what we desire should be true.

We call that wishful thinking, but it is something more serious than that. It is an instinctive reaction to what cannot be understood because much of it does not make sense.

A people, like the Americans, who have developed a great civilization by the use of common sense, find it hard to believe that what does not make sense is true.

For instance, every American knows that the United States does not want to conquer any country on earth; then why should Russia want to harm the United States? It sounds unbelievable.

THE SAME THING is true about most of the great issues that face our country. Why should the British or the French be antagonistic to us when we have done so much for them?

Many of us simply will not believe that it is true until something happens to excite us. Soon we subside and turn to what is more pleasant to think and talk about. We are a cheerful people.

I do not wish to give the impression that any of this is right or wrong. Who really knows?

Does everybody have to be a politician or an expert or an authority?

Some of us devote our lives to the study of these great subjects, and we know that no matter how much work we do to understand historic forces, there are so many factors that may escape us — and some of them are crucial.

NAPOLEON LOST an empire because it rained. Today, we have meteorologists to tell us when it is going to rain, but the Germans miscalculated on the atom bomb. We got it first, although it looked as though they would beat us in that race.

We did not know—and therefore all calculations have been wrong—that little guys like the Rosenbergs had already stolen it from us. It is little things that none of us knows that often count most.

There is a danger in this almost fatalistic attitude. The danger is that the pot of history is always boiling and those who are not vigilant in the defense of their civilization lose it.

That has happened too often not to be wholly true.

Kilts for Girls 'Not Proper,' Scot Declares

JOHANNESBURG (NANA) — For Scots girls to dance in a kilt and sporran is "not quite proper," according to Maj. D. F. McLennan, former president of the famous Piping Club of Johannesburg.

Major McLennan expressed his disapproval after watching lassies of South Africa's Scottish community compete at the annual two-day Royal Scotish Gathering which has just been held at Wembley Stadium, Johannesburg.

"The girls dance very attractively in kilt and sporran," said the major, "but it is not in the tradition. It is just imitating men."

He pointed out that there was a movement in Scotland to go back to the time when lassies danced in three - quarter length skirts, blouses and velvet jackets.

Among the girl dancers at the Gathering who said they preferred the shorter kilt was 16-year-old blonde, Jean Kinghorn, who has performed at the Braemar Games and has won 200 medals for dancing.

Perhaps in two years Jean will change her mind, for another official at the games said: "When they reach 18, the girl dancers seem to become a little selfconscious about showing so much leg. Then they take to ballroom dresses."

Nearly all the tartans of Scotland were to be seen at the picturesque Wembley gathering, which is promoted by the Federated Caledonian Society and is the outstanding social event of the year for South Africa's Scots.

Eight bands and 120 dancers took part in the contests.

Nine in Area Enlist In Army, Air Force

Nine area enlistments through the Marion recruiting station of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force were reported today by Sgt. Howard Wheatcroft.

Enlisting in the Regular Army and sent to Ft. Knox, Ky., were Jesse A. Hughes, Keith M. Sheets, Harold W. Anderson, and R. A. Story, all of near Delaware.

Bruce Hagman of near Delaware has been assigned to a technical school of helicopter maintenance at Ft. Knox. Also sent to Ft. Knox was Robert M. Reece of Columbus.

Sent to Sampson Air Force Base in Geneva, N. Y. were Deltus B. McCarty of Marengo and Eugene Penelton of near Delaware, while David W. Kunert of near Delaware, who enlisted as an aviation cadet, was assigned to Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex.

Burglar Has Sense Of Humor, Police In Denver Report

DENVER (AP)—Denver police are seeking a burglar with a sense of humor.

Detective Cornelius Wykstra said a house prowler has struck three times in the last two weeks, taking jewelry and money.

The first time he got $300 and a $250 watch, but left the watch hidden under a bed.

Next time it was $130 in small change and $150 in jewelry. The jewelry was found later—under a bed.

When a third complaint came in, reporting the theft of $20 and $155 in jewelry, Wykstra said it was probably the same thief and advised the victim to search the house.

The jewelry should be there somewhere, he said.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Not only President Eisenhower, but ex - President Truman too, has been accused by labor of not keeping his word. Not since Mr. Truman took office back in April of '45 has anyone talked as bluntly — politely, but bluntly — to the former chief executive as did peppery David Dubinsky the Ladies Garment Workers Union leader, the other night in a sotto voce conversation.

RIESEL

It all began on the jolly evening of Thursday, Sept. 22, at a dinner party in St. Louis given Truman by the AFL high council. In a good natured moment, Dubinsky leaned across George Meany and said, in effect, that he had heard that the ex-President was coming into New York and would take part in local politics.

"Oh, I never butt into local politics," Truman said, realizing that Dubinsky was running the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee counsel, Rudy Halley, for mayor against the Democrats and Republicans.

THE FOLLOWING Monday, Truman arrived in New York and publicly moved into local politics by endorsing the Tammany candidate, Robert Wagner, Jr.

Dubinsky, whose union has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars for the New Deal and Fair Deal campaigns, ran into Truman at the Four Freedoms dinner that same Monday night and cooly reminded the ex-president that he had apparently changed his mind and moved into local affairs.

"After all," said Mr. T., "I'm an active Democrat."

"I remember another occasion when you spoke differently." Dubinsky snapped. Then he iced the former President with:

"But who am I to question the wisdom of an ex-president?"

Dubinsky later walked off the speakers' dais without saying goodby to the man he helped elect back in 1948, when most others deserted Truman.

DUBINSKY HAS also written an acid missive to Democratic National Chairman Steve Mitchell, telling him not to back Tammany candidates in New York.

The Democrats would be better off with an independent clean government mayoralty candidate, or a fusion - Republican nominee, rather than a Tammany man like Bill O'Dwyer, the Ladies garment chief wrote. Then Dubinsky twitted Mitchell for inviting back into the Democratic party the Southern Democrats who bolted to Eisenhower, while at the same time excommunicating Rudy Halley, an independent Democrat running on the Liberal party ticket.

Neither Truman, Adlai Stevenson nor any Eisenhower cabinet member has been invited to join Walter Reuther on the CIO convention platform next month in Cleveland.

Those who believe the CIO is dying had better go look at its national headquarters. The CIO proletariat has evicted a private bank, the Federal Service Finance Corp., which had most of the lower floor at 718 Jackson Place in Washington.

On the upper floors, walls have been ripped out, new offices added and space expanded whereever possible.

INSIDE, INSIDE Washington — Don't be too surprised to see John Lewis return to the AFL and get a seat on the high council in the next few months.

Despite all the talk, there is a labor man sitting in Ike's cabinet as acting secretary of labor. He is Under - Secretary Lloyd Mashburn, a former California AFL official. He joined the cabinet sessions last Friday.

Some 40 AFL Teamsters union attorneys met last week in St. Louis in a very hush, hush session to compare notes.

It seems that many local district attorneys have begun picking up the records of teamsters union locals, and it's now impossible for the union to keep secrets.

MOST OF THE time the books are returned as having been accurately kept, but their details have become known. The Teamsters' lawyers from all over the country are planning national strategy to fight this wave of raids.

Dave Beck, Teamsters president, plans to make the rounds of those cities where rackets have been discovered in his union's locals and face each Chamber of Commerce or industry group to tell them what he's doing.

He's already booked for the West Coast, Kansas City, St. Louis and New York.

DOWN RED LINE: — Most significant clue to what's happening inside Russia is hung inside the Soviet's Consulate in New York. After Stalin died, the Russians here took down his huge picture. For a while the space was blank. Then up went a czar - sized painting of — Lenin, not Malenkov.

The Soviets will open their country to tourists soon for the first time in a generation . . .

Sen Mundt has told me that there is evidence of a Communist short wave system run across the U.S. by ham operators of amateur broadcasting equipment.

This radio network will be used for cross country communications if the party is outlawed. They won't use the phone for fear of tapping or the mails because of the danger of interception.

Scare-Proofed

By Inez Robb

The licensed seers and cosmic thinkers who write for the daily press and weekly news magazines are having a field day with "Operation Candor."

INEZ ROBB

This is the alleged code name for the speeches or series of speeches through which President Eisenhower apparently intends to inform the nation of the menace of the atom and hydrogen bombs in the hands of the U.S.S.R.

Both cosmic and official circles seem convinced that the public or Boobus Americanus is unable to digest the fact that eventually the Russians may mean business with those bombs and that somebody—meaning you and me — may get hurt.

SO WE ARE to be alerted to our danger by a three, four or five-alarm message from the White House. Whether we get the three or five alarm treatment depends wholly, as I understand it, on whether Washington feels it is wise to scare our European allies to death, as well as ourselves.

If we didn't have to worry about our allies panicking and demanding any kind of a settlement with Russia on any basis available, it is highly probable that the people would get the seven - alarm treatment.

It is obvious that once more the cosmic thinkers believe old Boobus Americanus is asleep at the atomic switch, must be jolted out of his complacency and his hair turned white in a single night.

WELL SIR, this has a mighty familiar ring. I would say this is where we came in around 1941-42 when the double domes in Washington agreed that Boobus Americanus was too stupid to understand the dangers of air attack, or any kind of war attack for that matter, and had better be given some stiff talking-to.

For the life of me, I don't know why our duly elected officials always figure that Americans can't add two and two together to arrive at the facts of war, the atom or both.

It is one woman's opinion that my fellow citizens are not complacent in the face of nuclear fission or thermonuclear didoes, but rather that we are stoic.

WE LEARNED the stories and the pictures of Hiroshima and Nagasaki by heart. And since then, we have seen that mushroom - shaped cloud pictured in something like three dozen experimental tests. We have read and absorbed pictures of the awful damage resulting.

No one can convince me that the public or Boobus Americanus lost the terrible meaning in the disappearance of a Pacific island under the impact of a thermonuclear experiment that may or may not have been the first gydrogen bomb.

Because the nation has absorbed these devastating facts without public breast - beating or hand-wringing does not mean it has not digested their meaning or understood their import.

THE FACT that I don't shake in public isn't any guarantee I don't shake in private at the thought of what a hydrogen bomb can do to Manhattan Island, where I live.

Fact is, I don't need to be scared any further. I just want to be directed to a better 'ole.

And if nuclear warfare has eliminated the practicability or possibility of better 'otes, old Boobus Americanus can probably absorb that without going to pieces, too.

If the C - bomb and the dust-bombs which science now envisions are really going to blow us all skyhigh, there is at least some comfort in the knowledge that the Russians will be traveling in the same one-way direction.

I hope President Eisenhower gives his fireside chat before long. The suspense isn't killing me, but the cosmic thinkers are.

Speedup Undertaken

Procedures Streamlined By Utilities Commission

Editors: The state utilities commission plays a vital part in the life of every Ohio citizen. It has a great deal to say about what you pay for your natural gas, electric power and telephone services; it regulates trucking facilities, and train and bus transportation, all affecting daily life and conveniences. AP Staffer Bill Terry has checked up on the PUCO's operations and its recent streamlining of procedures. He has written five articles explaining the PUCO and how it operates. The first of the series follows.

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—About 18 months ago the state utilities commission collided with one rude fact: It was getting so far behind in its work it might never catch up.

People were clammering for telephones and gas furnaces. Others were kicking about existing service. The utilities were pressing for higher rates.

The commission, using the same slow, painstaking methods that had served it well for 20 or 30 years, just couldn't keep up with the demands.

The logjam of rate cases alone would take years to go through.

What to do?

The commission knew it couldn't count on greatly enlarging its staff, which now numbers 125 persons. Or on getting more money, which now amounts to $839,000 a year.

The commissioners — Robert L. Moulton, Ralph Winter, and Ray Martin—decided they would have to make the best use possible of available personnel and funds. And that's exactly what they did over an 18-month period.

They're the first to admit the results aren't perfect, but they were good enough to merit wide discussion at the 65th annual convention of the National Assn., of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners last month in New York City.

The streamlining of the commission had these three main objectives:

1. Speeding up regulatory processes to keep pace with today's fast-moving world.

2. Educating the commission and staff members on all problems they are likely to face. This is a continuing program.

3. Formulating orders that will prevent headaches in the future.

When the general program was outlined, everyone pitched in to start the ball rolling. There were some who had been with the commission for long periods, before the end of World War II greatly increased the commission's work.

Commissioner Martin, who served in the war himself, tells of the contrast in the commission's work thusly:

"Before 1945 the work was comparatively simple. There had been few rate cases over the year. Capital needs of public utilities were very small compared to their tremendous present day demands. There were plenty of commission engineers available for checking utility records.

"In 1945 World War II ended and then came the deluge. Thousands of new homes were built. New families were being formed. New businesses and industries were established."

This had a tremendous impact on the utilities. Thousands of people wanted telephones but couldn't get them. Electric power consumption zoomed. There was not enough gas for everyone who wanted it.

To meet these demands, utilities had to expand. First they borrowed all the money they could and sold as much stock as they could, Martin said.

"The companies were forced to apply for increased rates, and from 1948 on we have experienced a flood of rate cases, financing matters and service complaints," Martin said.

"We found that so many rate cases had been filed, that it would be several years before they could be processed if we followed the same procedures and practices that had been in effect for 20 or 30 years."

The commissioners decided their efficiency had to be increased to keep up with the work.

"It was apparent that if this were not done little effective help could be given to the thousands of people in Ohio waiting for telephone service and the thousands of service complaints would remain unsolved," he added.

New Experimental Tank Won't Be Demonstrated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army's experimental new heavy tank will be absent from the lineup at an ordnance demonstration Thursday unless, says a Pentagon spokesman, Secretary of Defense Wilson relents.

The spokesman said Army officers informally asked Wilson to make the T43, not yet in production, the star of the show when the American Ordnance Assn. makes its annual visit to the Aberdeen, Md., proving ground. Newsmen will be present.

But, the spokesman said last night, Wilson ruled that under an order he issued April 8 no new weapons and equipment can be shown publicly now because of security and economy reasons.

Downward Trend

In Steel Industry Cited by Magazine

CLEVELAND (AP) — Part of the downward adjustment the steel industry expected in the fourth quarter took place in the third quarter, Steel magazine said today.

But the weekly metalworking magazine added that the adjustment is not over, and pointed out that several firms have lowered premium prices on pig iron and some blast furnaces are idle.

Many of the idle facilities, Steel went on, are those used to make steel "at any cost" during the period of intense demand. Now, the consumer is shunning costly conversion steel.

The national production rate rose a half point last week to 95 per cent of theoretical capacity. That's the fastest pace since the first week in September.

Election Officials Ready But Nobody Shows Up

FAYETTE, Maine (AP)—The town clerk, four ballot clerks, a constable, an election officer and a janitor stood by—at $8 each— at the polls yesterday.

But none of the town's 150 voters showed up to cast ballots in a special State Senate election.

"Guess folks just weren't very interested in the election," remarked one of the clerks.

Vitamins and Minerals help keep you healthy

That's why we put the minimum adult daily needs of 9 of the 10 essential vitamins and minerals in each quart of

Gail Borden

Signature Quality Milk and Skimmed Milk

It may surprise you to learn that many Americans—the best-fed people on earth—suffer from vitamin and mineral deficiencies.

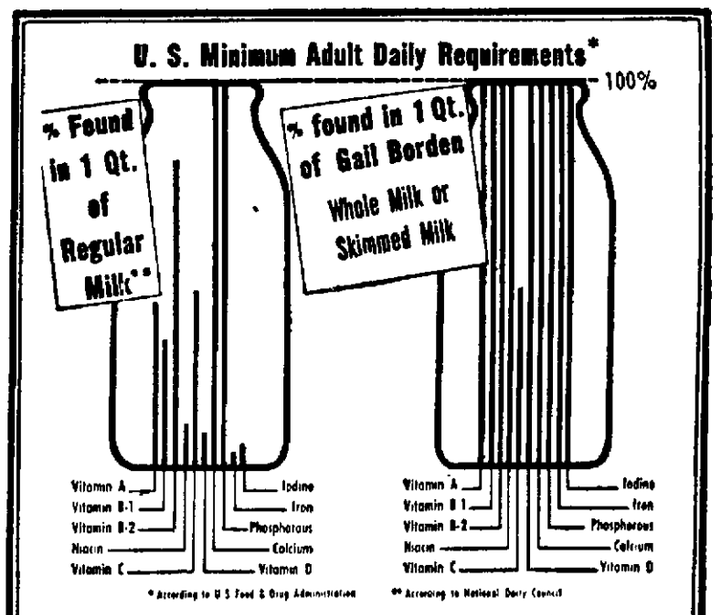
That is why Gail Borden Milk is such good news nutritionally! Now it is possible for the first time to get all of these essential nutritients in one food everybody likes and uses!

Gail Borden is pure fresh milk—whole milk or skimmed, whichever you need—of extra high quality, to which has been added extra amounts of the vitamins and minerals that are found naturally in milk.

We think Gail Borden is the biggest milk news since pasteurization!

This chart tells the story

It shows the percent of the minimum adult daily needs of the ten most essential vitamins and minerals — according to U.S. Food & Drug Adm. — supplied by one quart of Gail Borden Milk or Gail Borden Skimmed Milk.



Two kinds of Gail Borden --one just for you!

GAIL BORDEN WHOLE MILK will be the kind most of you will want. This is pure, fresh milk, fortified with vitamins and minerals. It is homogenized for even flavor, uniform richness, and easier digestability.

GAIL BORDEN SKIMMED MILK provides the same vitamin and mineral protection — at a very low calorie count. It is recommended for all persons on a low-fat or low-calorie diet. It contains extra proteins, too!

Both Gail Borden Whole and Skimmed Milk give you this extra protection of added vitamins and minerals. Vitamin C is not added because of its instability. Eat tomatoes and citrus fruits for C.

Ask your doctor! When your doctor questions the adequacy of the vitamin and mineral content of your diet, ask him about Gail Borden Whole Milk and Gail Borden Skimmed Milk.

Firemen Find Few Hazards In Spot Check

Marion business places inspected by firemen Monday as the start of National Fire Prevention Week were generally in very good condition as far as fire hazards were concerned, Fire Chief Owen Sifritt said today.

The cooperation received by firemen from the merchants was very gratifying, he said, reporting that in most instances the merchants readily complied with the inspecting firemen's suggestions.

He did say, though, that the most prominent violation and biggest danger in some of the establishments was the failure to remove rubbish, trash, and other debris from the building.

Then too, he said, there were several cases in which no provision had been made to empty waste baskets daily This, he pointed out, is a serious fire hazard, and sould be eliminated.

The chief complimented the merchants for their cooperation and, in general, for their good habits in keeping their businesses in a condition where the danger of fire was very slight

The names of eight business places in the city were chosen at a dawing in front of the court house Monday morning. The eight were the Faye Shop, May's Jewelry Store, Midtown Chevrolet, Economy Savings and Loan, Lennon Furniture Store, Marion County Bank, Marion Federal Savings and Loan, and Omar Bakery.

The inspecting firemen were Chief Sifritt, John T Ganoe, Capt. O. C. Stafford, Bernard T Sullivan and Dewey Hunter.

Galion Educator Addresses Morrow County Teachers

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD—"Take the creation of God and better it!" was the challenge of M. G. Probst, and educator, of Galion, as he spoke to the Morrow County Teacher's Association at their annual fall meeting at Chesterville School.

"Spiritual values in education are challenged by another ideal, Communism, a version of man without God. 'It does not sound right, it does not ring true It is a materialistic philosophy of life that leaves out God. It is time for us to realize that we have the greatest freedom on earth and that we are, traditionally, a Christian nation If we are going to be an American, let's be a good one Too few appreciate our great heritage and the grace of God about us'"

"Our boys and girls must have a philosophy of spiritual values and democracy if they are to exist I fear we are producing intellectual giants and spiritual pigmies. God gives us the materials; what are we going to do about it'"

"The school, the home, the church are the three greatest institutions working together in the nation, today They are the bulwark of Democracy. Each respects the other and all are important. It is our ideal to make every child to feel that he or she is loved and wanted, to make them feel at home, wherever they are."

H. H. Geiger of Edison, presided during the sessions and W. G. Spies was host superintendent. William Dowler and Jane Mosher, of Cardington, directed and accompanied the music periods. Stephan Safran directed the special "Singin' School" numbers.

Presentation of topics for study groups were permanent records by Iris Sellers and Clemma Vale; morals and religion, Pearl Lanker and Kenneth Kennedy; vocations, Nancy Kennedy and A J. Black; civic guidance, H. Ray Wagner and W J. Bennett; emotions, Luella Auker, and Aubrey Jenkins; recreation, Nelda Akron and Mary Gantz; academic, Mabel Burns and Frank Furniss, follow-up programs, Jesse West and Oscar Augenstein

Russell Cooke, of Fulton, was elected president for the 1954 term, Vice president is H. Ray Wagner, of Sparta, secretary, Mabel Burns, of Iberia; treasurer, Carrie Philbrook, of Cardington; delegates to the OEA convention and alternates, T A Gantz, county superintendent, H. H Geiger, A. J. Black and Richard Fuller.

Did you bet on the bowling ball or the glass of water?

If you watch Dave Garroway on his TV show "Today", you have seen how he used a heavy bowling ball and a little glass to prove that a U. S. Koylon Foam Mattress supports every weight independently, guaranteeing that heavyweight papas and lightweight mammas can find complete independent sleeping comfort.

That's right. When he set the heavy ball and the water-filled glass on the Koylon mattress, the ball never rolled a fraction toward the center, and the glass never spilled a drop.

Come on down and make the test yourself in our bedding department. Lie down on one of our U. S. Koylon Mattresses and see for yourself why thousands are discovering that when it comes to sleep, there's nothing like foam, and when it comes to foam, absolutely nothing like U. S. Martin, Stengel's Choice, Comes Through in Clutch

Yankee Star's Bat Brings Fifth Straight Series Title

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — It was right and proper that the player whom Casey Stengel loves above all his other Yankees should have stroked the ninth-inning single which won the deciding game of the 1953 World Series and made the Old Professor the only manager in the history of the game to win five straight world championships.

If the grizzled strategist could have picked his man to face the one-out drive into center field that gave the Pombers their thrilling 4-3 victory and crushed the resurgent Brooklyn Dodgers, you may be certain his choice would have been Billy Martin, the hard-bitten little scrapper he managed at Oakland and whom he sooner or later brings into almost every conversation

Dressen Favorite Too

Even Chuck Dressen of the Dodgers might have had slightly mixed feelings when he saw Martin lay into Clem Labine s second pitch and watched Hank Bauer heading for home with his ground-eating strides. Dressen also holds a soft feeling for the kid who buried his hopes By one of baseball's choice coincidences, he managed the boy he refers to as "that tough little monkey" the year before Casey did at Oakland.

Only three night ago, after Martin had made himself something of a goat by attempting to score a run that wouldn't have meant anything and getting thrown out at home to end the fourth game, Chuck sat long in his private dressing room at Ebbets Field and talked about the battler from the Coast. His words were all in admiration, even when he told of having had to slap a stiff fine on Billy for swearing at him The $200 jolt was rescinded after Martin apologized, somewhat reluctantly.

It should not be assumed from any of this that everybody loves the series hero, whose nose is rivaled in grandeur only by those of such noted figures as Eddie Arcaro and Jimmy Durante. The Brooklyn players, themselves, hold the young man in very low esteem He is, in fact, their unfavorite Yankee because they consider him a popoff and all-around smart alec.

Yanks Supposed To Win

After what must have been seen yesterday by many millions, including 62,370 who paid to be frozen blue in a sudden change of weather, it can only be accepted that the Yankees are supposed to win World Series and that the present Brooklyn team, however good, is destined to wind up with the losers' share.

While the Brooks went down in six games this time instead of the seven they normally insist upon, they were by no means outclassed nor brought disgrace to the National League. Their lack of pitching depth finally told on them, as it figured to do, but they proved themselves the stout hitters that their averages promised and they never quit punching.

Few who saw it will forget the heart-stopping home run that Carl Furillo dropped into the right corner with one down in the top of the ninth to score Duke Snider ahead of him and tie the score at 3-3 There have been few more dramatic wallops, considering all of the circumstances, and it was no fault of the National League's batting champion that he didn't emerge the game's big figure instead of Martin.

Consider the buildup to Furillo's blow. The Yanks had been leading, apparently by a safe margin from the game's opening minutes They were in front by 3-0 after two innings, and the Dodgers finally had scored a lone r off young Whitey Ford in the sixth only because Jackie Robinson took charge with a double, stole third without drawing a throw and raced in on an infield out

That was all the Dodgers had managed going into their last time at bat under the lights Their chances looked even slimmer when Stengel playing strictly a hunch, brought Allie Reynolds in to relieve Ford to start the eighth

Campanella Whiffs

Junior Gilliam, first Dodger to face the Chief, nearly knocked one into the right field seats and, after two were down, Robinson pumped a single to left. That brought up the dangerous Roy Campanella, whom Reynolds had hit on his throwing hand in the first game, Reynolds breezed a third strike past the Brook catcher, letter high, to end the inning.

So the Yanks felt cozy going into the ninth—more so after Gil Hodges flied out to short center. Then Snider worked Reynolds for a pass, which was hotly disputed by Yahoo's battery mate Yogi Berra. That brought up Furillo, who previously had hit Ford for a double and a single. The man from Pennsylvania's coal region first brought the crowd up yelling with a punch down the right line which barely blew foul, and then, with the count 3 and 2, he socked the next one in there.

Martin Picked No. 1 Star; Cox Tops Fielders

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Superlatives of the 1953 Golden Jubilee World Series

Outstanding individual player—Billy Martin, Yankees' second baseman. Tied the series record for most hits, 12; led hitting with .500, accounted for a total of 23 bases; stole one base, failed to make an error. His "clutch" single won the deciding game.

Best pitching performance—Carl Erskine, Dodgers, who struck out 14 Yankees for an all-time World Series record in winning the third game 3-2.

Best fielding play—Billy Cox, Dodgers, with his spectacular stab of Hank Bauer's blistering grounder in the sixth inning of the fifth game. With bases full, he made a leaping stop of the ball, picked it up in time to force Gene Woodling and retire the side.

Best outfield catch—Duke Snider, Dodgers, who raced to the auxiliary scoreboard in right center field at Yankee Stadium to make a leaping, one-handed catch of Joe Collins' blow in the fifth inning of opening game.

Best outfield throw—Gene Woodling, Yankees, in the second inning of the fifth game at Ebbets Field. He cut down Gil Hodges at the plate with a no-bounce "strike" after Billy Cox had lined to medium left field.

Greatest comeback—Gil Hodges, Dodgers, "goat" of the 1952 series with no hits in 21 appearances, led Dodger regulars in hitting with eight hits and .364 average.

Biggest blunder—Yankees' attempt to send Martin home in ninth inning of the fourth game with the Dodgers leading 7-3 and New York in the midst of a rally. Martin was cut down at the plate for the final out. Third base coach Frank Crosetti took full blame.

Best quote—Preacher Roe, Dodgers' pitcher, who described one of the home run balls he threw in the second game as "the greatest mistake since they invented buttermilk"

Erie Railroaders Take Industrial Golf Title

Erie Railroad won the title in the Industrial League golf standings which came to a close last week Marion Engineer Depot No 7 was second and Marion Engineer Depot No 13 was third.

Next came Marion Power Shovel No. 12; B R Smith Insurance Agency, Marion Industries No. 5, Marion Power Shovel No 14, Universal Cooler No 10, Sinclair, Marion Industries No. 2 and McMillen Feed, all tied, Marion Engineer Depot No 8, Universal Cooler No. 3; and Fairfield

Vic Janowicz of the Pirates wears No. 31 on his uniform. It is the same numeral he wore during his collegiate football days at Ohio State.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

The last big step before the initial appearance of the Marion Barons here Saturday night was taken late yesterday. Lee Watson and the crew getting the Coliseum arena in shape flooded the big area in preparing for the ice.

SHORT

The water was poured into the area and by late this week the ice surface will be ready for the first hockey game in Marion's history. Coach Ott Heller and his players are expected in by Friday and Tony Hemmerling, general manager of the Barons, is laying last-minute plans for their arrival

The open house Saturday night has been set up to give Marion fans a brief acquaintance with the rules before the first actual game scheduled Sunday afternoon with the parent Cleveland Barons. Tony says the basic rules of the game will be explained and Heller and the team members will be introduced.

ALL IN VAIN. Even the most hardened Yankee rooters here yesterday were pulling for the Dodgers to tie up the World Series after Carl Furillo's two-run blast in the top of the ninth had tied the score.

Two men, who all season had been praising the Yanks, had started counting up their money at the start of the ninth inning. Even after Duke Snider reached first they were confident of a win But when Furillo connected their allegiance shifted.

Just before the TV camera shifted to the Yankee bench where Billy Martin was being mobbed, the cameramen showed a picture of utter despair. Roy Campanella stood at the plate watching Martin's hit being fielded by Snider. He didn't even wait for the throw when he saw Bauer in with the winning run.

THE STAR'S grid guessing panel hit for a .682 average on its first try of the season. The combined total showed a slight decrease from the average turned in a week ago by the three guests. The panel picked only 30 of 44 winners.

Bill Stanbro and John Short each picked eight winners while missing on three Mike Huber and Bill Diem finished with seven right and four wrong.

Three unanimous choices came through with decisive wins. Harding whipped Tiffin Columbian and St. Mary rolled over Mt. Gilead to help all four while the other unanimous choice, the Harding reserves, dropped their game to Columbus West.

Lebanon Trot Won By Sunbury Horse

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Felia Hanover, owned by V. L. Edwards of Sunbury won both heats of the featured Class B trot as the Lebanon Raceway's fall harness went into its final week.

Felia Hanover, driven by Arlo Edwards, brother of the owner, reeled off the first heat of the $1,200 event in 2 14 4-5 and then won the second in 2:20. Raceway was second in both heats.

Cold and damp weather held the attendance to less than a thousand persons, the smallest of the fall meeting.

Only seven points were scored in games in 1930, '31 and '32. The 1930 and '31 games ended in 0-0 ties. Duke won the 1932 game by 7-0.

FURILLO HOLDS UP YANKS, BUT NOT FOR LONG. National League batting champ Carl Furillo trots into the plate at the end of a come-from-behind, two-run homer that pulled the Dodgers even with the Yankees in the top of the ninth of the sixth World Series game in Yankee stadium Waiting to give him the glad hand are (from left) Duke Snider, Billy Cox and the Dodger bat boy But, Furillo's dramatic homer only delayed for a few minutes the Yankees' drive to a record fifth straight series.

Mize To End Career

Reynolds Eyes Retirement If Back Injury Fails To Heal

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Johnny Mize reiterated today his intention to end his active career in baseball and Allie Reynolds may join him in retirement

Reynolds, the New York Yankees' great right-hander told newspapermen after yesterday's final World Series game he would quit if his back failed to improve over the winter.

"My back has been bothering me ever since I hurt it in that bus accident last July," he said "I've had muscular spasms, on and off, ever since. For a time, I couldn't even run, let alone pitch.

"My back improved somewhat in the hot weather but I reinjured it again pitching the World Series opener I was greatly upset then because the muscular spasms returned. However, it wasn't as bad as I thought and I was able to pitch again although I knew I'd never be able to start another series game"

Allie, a wealthy oil man who last spring entertained thoughts of retiring at the end of the 1953 season, said he planned to rest all winter.

"I'm going to give the back a good chance to heal," he said "If I'm physically fit and feel I can help the club next year, I'll return for another season. But if my back does not come around, I'll hang up my glove I've had too nice a career in baseball to kill it by merely hanging on."

Reynolds, naturally, was jubilant over his triumph in the final game. He relieved Whitey Ford in the eighth, and although he serve the home run to Carl Furillo in the ninth that tied the score, he was declared the winner when the Yankees won the game 4-3 in the last half of the ninth. It was his seventh World Series triumph, equaling the record held by Red Ruffing of another Yankee era.

"It's not the way I like to get it," he said, "but I'm glad to take it anyway."

Mize, who will be 41 in January, left no doubt about his intentions

"I know I can still help the club, especially as a pinch hitter," he said "But I don't think it will be worth it I've got two offers now, both of which will pay me more than I'd make playing with the Yankees next year One is an all-year-round job, the other for five months.

Mize, who appeared only as a pinch hitter during the series and failed to land a safety, declined to identify the offers but said they would be in baseball.

Montreal Eyes Sweep In Little Series Play

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Royals can clinch the Junior World Series tomorrow with a victory over the Kansas City Blues

Montreal took a stranglehold on the title by defeating the Blues 5-3 last night for a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The fourth game of the series will be played at Kansas City

The International League champions won the crown back in 1948 and will be looking for their third series title.

Two-Year-Old Paces to New World Record

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Dale Forest paced to a new world's race record for two-year-olds yesterday and shattered the two-heat mark in winning the $13,900 Meadow Lands Pace at the Lexington trots.

The swift son of Hal Dale from the stable of Charley Provost of Pittsburgh won the first heat in 2 00 1-5 to clip 1-5 from the time set by Knight Dream in 1947 The colt went the second mile in 2 02 for a new two-heat time of 4 02 1-5. Del Miller was the driver

Excellent Chief finished second in each heat while Diamond Hal and Queen's Adois split third money.

Newport Dream, harness racing's biggest money winning two-year-old and the likely winter book choice for the 1954 Hambletonian, was retired yesterday for the season.

Owner Octave Blake of South Plainfield, N. J., and Trainer Del Cameron said they would rest the colt because he was beginning to show slight signs of wear and tear from his campaign that brought 18 wins in 20 starts, the last 16 in a row.

The colt earned $91,833

Massillon Retains Place As Ohio's Top Grid Power

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's high school grid stars will have to hurry if they're going to menace the scoring records set up last season.

A year ago Hubert Bobo of Chauncey—Dover registered 323 points in 10 games for the state Class B record, and Carl Smith of Washington Court House counted 296 in nine tilts for the Class A laurels

That figured out at a little better than five touchdowns per game for each—but no one is close to that this year.

Topsy-turvy: Ashland which had a 21-game winning streak through the 1952 campaign, has lost all three starts this season as has Washington Court House which won 'em all in '52. But Toledo Waite, which didn't win a game last season, has three victories in a row

Covington's 21-game winning streak was broken by Oakwood, 20-12, and Liberty-Union halted Columbus Academy at eight, 13-6. Wintersville rolled on to its 29th straight by trimming Wellsville 13-7.

Dayton Roosevelt tied for 21st place in the weekly Associated Press sports editor poll, has outscored the foe 138 to 0 in winning three.

The 31 sports editors in the weekly poll again voted Massillon's five-time state champions to the top spot, 16 naming the Tigers as the No. 1 outfit after that 40-0 trimming handed Lima Central.

Springfield, No 2 all last season and in last week's poll, dropped to a tie for 14th after absorbing a 31-6 defeat at the hands of Portsmouth's classy Trojans. The river city team jumped from fourth to second on the basis of the startling verdict which ended an 18-game winning streak for Jim McDonald's Clark County crew.

From here and there Sixty-one teams were mentioned by the 31 writers in the poll, more than 500 failing to get a nod . . Ashland, its own fortunes at half mast, is rooting for Portsmouth where Ashlander Bob Brownson is doing such a great coaching job.

Those Massillons arn't so tough Dick Fromholtz, Tiger back, raced across the field with the ball against Lima Central, reversed and came all the way back, reversed and started across again. He traveled more than 80 yards on the run, and wound up gaining one yard—probably the longest yard of the year. And Dick Porter, second quarterback for Massillon, completed a 17-yard pass against Lima but lost 18 yards on the play. He was chased back 35 yards before he could throw.

Fremont Ross has impressive wins over Cleveland West Tech, Lorain and Fostoria, and Al Coxon, Fremont sports editor, has a hunch the state title will hang on its Nov. 13 game with Massillon. Luther Emery, Massillon sports editor, tags the Fremont tilt a "breather" for the Tigers

When Tiffin Columbian got its lone touchdown in the 21-6 loss to Marion Harding Friday night, it marked the first time in six regular and two exhibition games Marion Clubs had been scored on.

Harding Leads Loop, Prepares For Fostoria

Harding High School seeks to better its top position in the Buckeye League Friday night when it plays host to Fostoria's Redmen.

Pete Howison's Prexies currently perched atop the league standings with wins over Bowling Green and Tiffin Columbian. Breathing on their heels are the defending champs, Fremont Ross, and Findlay's Trojans, each with wins in their only Buckeye games.

Fostoria and Tiffin have each dropped one while Bowling Green has absorbed a pair of losses in league play. Fostoria dropped its opener last week to Fremont by a 40-6 count. Bowling Green's second loss was administered last Friday by Findlay.

Fostoria will bring a record of one win and two losses to Marion. The visitors were dumped 38-6 by Toledo Clay in their opener and squeezed out a 7-6 win over Cuyahoga Falls before bumping into the powerful Fremont squad.

The Presidents will meet Fremont here on Nov. 6 in a game which, in all probability, will decide the league championship.

Coach Howison described his team as being in 'pretty good' shape today. Harding followers were a little worried following the Tiffin scrap Garv Ballinger, who bulled his way for 140 yards in 16 carries, suffered a leg bruise but at practice Monday he showed no after effects.

Pete also hinted that Jim Peacock, who has been sidelined most of the season with a bad back, may be ready to go. He scrimmaged a little last night and came through with no aggravation of the injury.

Harding Boosters Club Plans Special Train to Ashland Game

An excursion by train to the Harding-Ashland football game at Ashland on Thursday, Oct. 29, has been planned by the Harding High School Booster Club.

Arrangements for the special train of eight cars to make the trip were completed at a meeting of the Booster Club Monday night at the school.

The excursion, which will be on the Erie Railroad, will be open to all Harding team followers, with the Booster Club as the sponsor.

At the next meeting of the club Oct. 12, tickets will be distributed and placed on sale immediately. Price of a round trip ticket for adults will be $2.15, and for children under 12 years of age, $1.10. Admission ticket to the game will be extra.

Named to serve on the ticket committee by William Hamor, president, were M. B Stoffer, chairman, Stewart Jones, Merle Peacock and Lawrence Sager.

Also at the meeting, attended by about 45 members, pictures of the Columbus West and Bowling Green games with Harding were shown.

Buckeyes Take Third Place in National Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame, fresh from its second smashing triumph, remains the popular choice as the best college football team in the country while three Big Ten schools have enhanced their top 10 ratings.

The Fighting Irish, who enjoy an open date Saturday after wearing down Oklahoma and trampling on Purdue in their first outings, received 84 of 129 first-place votes cast and 1,190 points in the second weekly Associated Press poll.

Michigan State, with two consecutive Big Ten victories under its defending national championship belt, remains in second place with 15 firsts and 1,022 points.

Ohio State jumped from sixth to third on the strength of its impressive 33-19 triumph over California in the national television contest while Michigan fell a notch to fifth despite a 26-7 victory over Tulane. The Buckeyes scored 769 points to 636 for Michigan.

Maryland, dropped from third to fourth, received 733 points UCLA followed with 430 points Southern California 424, Duke 311, Baylor 288 and Georgia Tech 227 to round out the top 10.

Duke is the new entry on the list. The Blue Devils advanced from 12th to eighth following a 21-7 victory over Tennessee. Oklahoma, eighth a week ago, tumbled to 15th due to its 7-7 tie with Pitt.

Exempted Cage Action Slated For February

Coach Ray Robbins and Very Rev. William J Spickerman, V.F., of St. Mary School attended a meeting of officials from schools participating in the annual exempted village and parochial school basketball tournament at Westerville last night.

The meeting was held at Westerville and dates were set for the Class B cage play for schools not taking part in regular county tournament play. Feb. 24 and 26 were selected as two days for the tourney action with one date still to be set at another location.

Marysville, annual basketball threat in the district, has been moved into Class A competition and will no longer take part Jerry Kingsmore of Marysville has served as tournament chairman for two years. He was replaced by Robert Blose of Mt Gilead.

In addition to St Mary, schools represented at the meeting include University, St. Mary and Holy Family of Columbus, Lancaster St Mary, London, Mt. Gilead, Granville, Mt. Vernon St. Vincent and Newark St Francis.

Hedges Wins Championship At Richwood

Jack Hedges came in first in the feature race Saturday night at the Richwood Speedway. The race was run for the Richwood Speedway championship.

Twenty-four cars started the 50-lap race but spills and other mishaps cut the field to 11 at the finish line Johnson was trailed in by Chet Johnson in second and Dick Hinsel in third. Taking fourth place was George Boyer while J. L. Jones was fifth and Ralph Ray was sixth.

The race program wound up the season at the Richwood track. Promoter John Collier announced he would reopen early next April.

Joe Wallace was the only serious injury. He was taken to Marion City Hospital after a spill but was released after treatment.

The first race, a 10-lap event, went to Dick Decker with George Boyer second and Dick Hinsel third. The second was won by Ralph Ray with Don Rhinehart coming in second and J. L Jones, third. Chet Johnson grabbed honors in the fourth heat with Jack Hedges and Clair McVitty trailing him in Jim Holycross was first in the fourth event with Dick Massie and Joe Jones following him in that order.

The first 15-lap pursuit race went to Gerald Treese. Lou Olmstead was second with Ralph Nichols following him across the finish line. Don Treese took the second pursuit event with Jim Hamilton in the runner-up spot and Clyde Looney in third.

OSU's Cassady Ready for Play Against Illini

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Ohio State's powerful Buckeyes are to make it three in a row this Saturday, they'll have to do it against a hard-hitting Illinois team that has proved it can pile up mileage through the air as well as on the ground.

The unbeaten Illini, led by a halfback who in two games has averaged nearly eight yards a carry, has shown themselves a comeback team.

Two weeks ago Illinois caught Nebraska 21-21 after the Cornhuskers had raced to a two touchdown lead.

Last week Stanford led Coach Ray Eliot's charges 14-7 after a half. But the Illini roared back to win it 33-20.

Ohio State Scout Gene Fekete saw both Illinois contests. He says of Saturday's Buckeye opposition:

"Illinois hasn't featured a passing attack this season because its ground game has been so terrific."

When Illinois did take to the air, though, passer and receivers connected with pinpoint accuracy, Fekete continued.

Main cog in the Illini offensive machine has been J. C Caroline, who has carried the ball 35 times and chugged out 271 yards, averaging 7.7 a trip.

"In my five years of scouting," Fekete said, "I haven't seen another back do a more terrific job than this boy (Caroline) does."

Fekete looks for Illinois—a T formation team which splits its ends occasionally and flanks its halfbacks—to open up somewhat on the aerial attack.

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes remarked that a change of tactics last week at California surprised the Buckeyes "We weren't ready," he said. California's quarterback Paul Larson gave the Buckeyes a lot of trouble because he passed when he was expected to run, then turned entirely unpredictable running when he was expected to pass.

Hayes was long in his praise of Bob Watkins, Buckeye right halfback, who has picked up an average of 6.6 yards on 28 tries. He said Watkins was "the finest boy on the field" Saturday against California. Watkins saved State from the consequences of a fourth-quarter fumble by hitting a California ball-carrier "so hard he couldn't hold on to the ball," Hayes remarked.

Hayes will have Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, first string left halfback, in the lineup against Illinois. Cassady was out of the California game with a minor shoulder separation.

One change in the starting lineup will be at center, with Ken Vargo of Martins Ferry, second string center, starting in place of Jerry Krisher. Hayes said he was making the change "on the basis of (Vargo's) fine line blocking."

Hayes said also he would switch Jerry Harkrader of Middletown from halfback to fullback.

Edison and Baker Battle to 6-6 Tie

Eber Baker and Edison fought to a 6-6 tie in a Marion Junior High School Football League contest on the Edison field Monday afternoon.

Edison, opening its league season, drew first blood in the opening period. Garrison McGinnis went around end from 15 yards out.

Eber Baker knotted the count just before the half drew to a close when Bill Smith went into the end zone from the one-yard stripe.

Baker, which won the Mar-Del League last year as Vernon Junior High, was threatening at games' end. Don Zeisler's boys had the ball at the Edison 20 when time ran out.

George Whitehead's Edison crew faces against Robert A. Taft Junior High, coached by Marion Watts, at the Edison field Thursday in the next league game. Taft was a 31-6 victim of Baker last Thursday.

EBER BAKER

Study Revision of System

'Universal Pension' May Replace Social Security

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The social security program for the aged is one of the world's bigigest bargains for some workers, but a poor one for others.

These variations in treatment—some congressmen call them inequities—are getting special attention from two investigating teams.

The studies—by a group of Eisenhower administration consultants and by a House ways and means subcommittee — could change the economic pattern of old age for millions of workers.

Here's how:

Under the present system, a special social security tax is levied on payrolls. This money goes into a special trust fund, from which death or retirement benefits are paid.

But a maze of rules governs who is eligible for benefits, and the level of benefits paid. The rules are based on the year in which a person reaches 65, the number of months' work under the program, average salaries, and so on.

Some congressmen have proposed to wipe out all these variations and start over with a system of uniform pension payments to everyone. The Republican party platform calls for a study of such a "universal pension."

Another proposal, reportedly favored by the administration, is to work within the framework of the present system on these points but modify any rules that cause undue hardships or inequities.

Against that backdrop, here are some of the rules of the present system and the variations in treatment they have produced:

To be eligible for retirement benefits, you must work under the system one half the time from January 1951 until you retire; or one half the time from the age of 21 until you retire. At any rate, you must work a minimum of 18 months in covered employment, and you are sure of at least some benefits if you work as much as 10 years.

Thus, some workers were covered for only 18 months after January, and then were at retirement age of 65 or older. They paid in a maximum of $81 in taxes and became eligible for full benefits—$127.50 a month for life for a man and his wife. On the average life expectancy, they would collect a total of about $18,870 on a contribution of only $81.

But many other workers will reach retirement age after 1971. They could work 9 3-4 years under the system, pay over $700 in taxes, and then lose their job, or become disabled, or shift to work not covered by the system. They wouldn't get a penny back in retirement pay.

Another rule—you get no retirement benefits from age 65 to 75 if you make as much as $75 monthly inemployment covered by the system.

Suppose you have no other income and you can't get along on your social security payment—the average for a man and wife is about $79 monthly. If you get a job as a night watchman, and make more than $75 monthly, you don't get a penny from social security until you reach 75. After that, you can earn any amount and still get your pension.

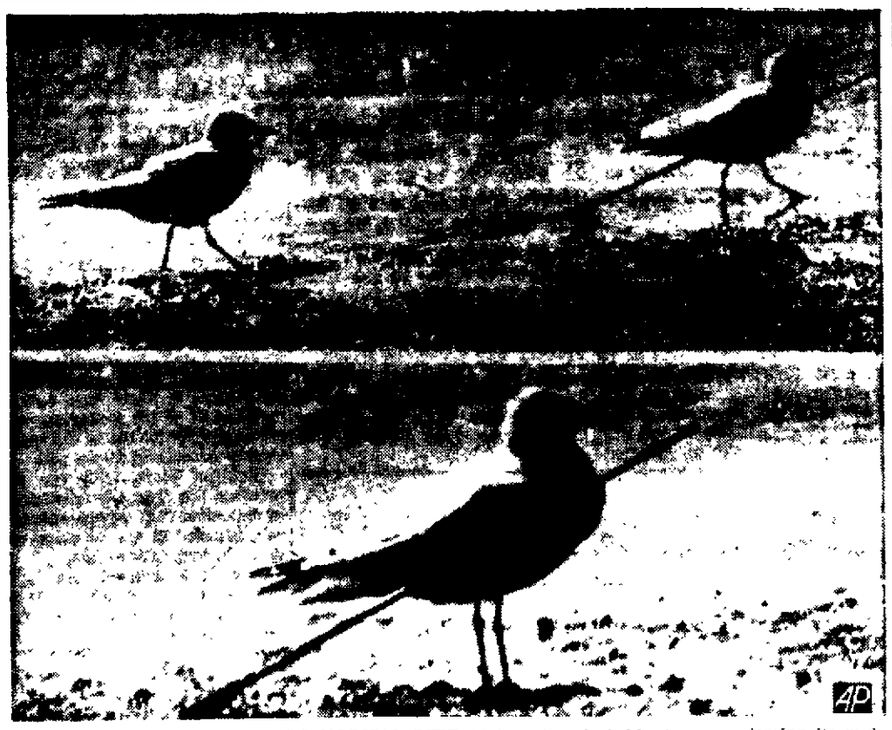
This rule, apparently, helps to explain a big puzzle about social security—of the ½ million workers now eligible for retirement benefits, only four million actually are collecting.

And, of course, the present retirement system does nothing for all those who reached retirement age before they could get the minimum of 18 months' covered employment. Of 13,400,000 persons now over 65, almost half are not covered by social security retirement. Their only chance for government help is to apply for direct relief, proving they are destitute.

Another rule: The level of benefits is based on your average monthly salary from your starting date—either January, 1951 or your 21st birthday. Thus the worker who held a steady job at good wages, and presumably would need help the least, gets the biggest payment. The fellow who worked intermittently, because of health or other reasons, or who made low wages, gets the least retirement benefit. Months not spent in covered employment are still counted in figuring your average.

Supporters of a flat, universal pension argue this would eliminate many variations and inequities and save time and money spent for elaborate bookkeeping under the present system.

Supporters of the present system say some disparities are inevitable in the relatively early years of such a vast, complex and long range program. But eventually, they say, most of the inequities will disappear.



ARROW PIERCED GULL LEADS NORMAL LIFE. With a two-foot, blunt arrow piercing its midsection, this sea gull, followed by another gull (top), searches for food at Danforth Lake, a tiny salt pool along the east shore of Onondaga Lake, N.Y. The gull (bottom) drags the tail of the arrow along as it walks along the shore. These pictures of the gull which refused to die were made by Herman J. Borzner, chief photographer of the Syracuse Post-Standard, who stalked it for two hours with a camera equipped with a 15-inch telephoto lens. Borzner thinks the gull may have been pierced by a stray arrow from an archery range near Liverpool, N.Y.

"How Will You Have Your Steak?"

Over and over again we repeat this question. Believe it or not, some of our steak customers, men who have two or three a week, sometimes decide that they will switch from a rare steak to one well done, or vice versa. This is one of the very few restaurants in this country where every steak order is filled as you want it.

Mount Vernon Man Wounded During Arrest

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—One man was shot as law enforcement officers from two counties investigating a series of burglaries took three men into custody near here Saturday.

Lewis Patton, 33, was reported in fair condition at Newark City Hospital after being shot in the back. The others arrested were Robert Grennell, 21, and William Willis, 23. All three are of Mount Vernon.

Two of the men were armed, Sheriff Paul Cochran of Knox County said.

They are being questioned about burglaries in Knox, Coshocton, Licking and Muskingum counties, Cochran said.

A fourth man, Lester Workman, 21, also Mount Vernon, was captured Tuesday.

Medical Treatment Aid to Potential Narcotics Addicts

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Fewer people are becoming narcotic addicts as a result of medicine given under a doctor's care.

Addiction resulting from medical treatment has dropped from 5 per cent to about 1 per cent in the past 20 years, Dr. William F. Ossenfort of the U. S. Public Health Hospital at Fort Worth said yesterday.

Dr. Ossenfort, addressing the Texas Surgical Society, said narcotic addiction on the whole is on the decrease in the United States. He said one out of every 1,000 military recruits was rejected for drug addiction in World War I but that figure dropped to one out of 10,000 in World War II.

Baltimore Police Probe Death of Ohio Airman

BALTIMORE, M. D. (AP)—Police today are investigating the death of Edward J. Armstrong, discharged 24-year-old Air Force sergeant from 52 Woodbine Ave., Warren, Ohio.

Armstrong was discharged Saturday from nearby Fort Meade and was found Sunday morning on the pavement in an "intoxicated condition." He was taken to police headquarters. Four hours later police took him to a hospital after he had "apparent convulsions" in a cell.

He died about 15 hours later. Dr. Russell S. Fisher, medical examiner, said a fractured skull caused death.

Wage Survey Planned By Army Depot Officials

Col. John M. Thayer, acting commanding officer, announced today that representatives from the Marion Engineer Depot will conduct a wage survey in this area starting Oct. 7.

This survey, for the Army-Air Force Wage Board, will include Galion and Mt. Gilead as well as the Marion area. Its purpose is to insure that wage rates paid to Army and Air Force hourly employes are maintained in line with the general level of prevailing rates paid by industrial firms in each labor market area. The last complete survey made in this 1952.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—Weakness in the aircrafts touched off a decline today in the stock market.

Active selling in the aircrafts took them down from fractions to between 1 and 2 points. Other sections of the market followed that pattern but with less emphasis.

Railroads stepped down after the aircrafts, and also lower were steels, oils, chemicals, and radio-televisions.

Lower stocks included Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Radio Corp., New York Central, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Pacific Land Trust, American Telephone, Du Pont, General Electric, and American Can.

NEIGHBORHOOD GROCERY STORE and MEAT MARKET on busy E. Center St location. Ideal for husband-wife operation, good income low rental. Let the records prove it to you, very little capital needed to get started Break the shackles of factory work and be independent About $3500 buys the business, equipment and stock. Don't just wish for opportunities to come your way. Grasp this one and you'll always be glad some one else didn't beat you to it.

DO YOU WANT A DELICATESSEN STORE? with beer and wine carry out? We have just the place for you Previously operated as grocery and meat market and did such a tremendous volume, the owners took their earnings and retired The beer and wine carry out is now adding the delicatessen line as well as a complete stock of groceries and meats. Present owner has too many other interests, so can't devote full time to this one If you don't want to be kept busy, don't buy this one.

CAFE ON MAIN STREET doing a good restaurant, beer and wine business Ideal for a partnership to take over. The right operators can hit the Jack Pot here Showing a good profit now—a little promotion can double it—only $13,000 plus inventory.

Kansas Farm Men Completing $15,000,000 Co-operative Job

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UP)—Taking form in the lush lowlands of the Kaw River valley of eastern Kansas is a $15,000,000 nitrogen fertilizer plant — the largest single project ever undertaken by farmers through their co-operatives.

The plant, being built by Consumers Co-operative Association, which serves 1,700 members co-ops of nine midwestern states, is designed to produce annually 83,000,000 tons of ammonium nitrate, 13,200 tons of anhydrous ammonia (liquid) and 13,200 tons of 40 per cent nitrogen solutions for use in mixed fertilizers.

Interest in the plant, which will occupy part of the 374-acre site east of Lawrence, began with realization of nitrogen fertilizer's efficiency in increasing crop yields—plus its scarcity and high price.

A demonstration farm is being developed on that area of the tract which will not be needed for the fertilizer plant. The farm will provide demonstrations of what various kinds of fertilizer will do to improve crops.

Some of the major units of the plant will come from Europe. The highly technical non-moving parts of the nitric acid plant (burners, heat exchangers, vessels, towers and others) are being fabricated by a Hamburg, Germany, company. They are scheduled for shipment here about Dec. 1.

The Messer air plant, which "fractionates" air, separating it into nitrogen, oxygen and other gases, also is being made in Germany.

The ammonia-synthesis unit is being fabricated in Italy. Here the international aspect deepens. The unit involves a patented process owned by a French firm, the Casale process, and there are French engineers on the job in Italy.

American firms are, of course, supplying vital sections of the plant. An Olean, N. Y., company will furnish the compressors for the nitric acid unit. The Cooper-Bessemer compressors and gas diesel engines for the ammonia unit are being built at Mt. Vernon, O., and Grove City, Pa.

The plant will take nitrogen from the air—air, water and natural gases will be its raw materials. The output will be distributed to farmers.
